Odyssey Of Hijacked Ship Nearing End

Brakes Fail On Cutoff To Race Track

Santa Maria Passengers, Crew Freed

Brazilian Marines
Occupy Liner; Rebel
Chieftain Stymied

RECIFE, Brazil (AP) — Under mounting pressure of violence, hysteria and counter-plotting, the rebel skipper of the Santa Maria freed the Portuguese liner's captive passengers and crew Thursday. Tugs brought them ashore in various conditions ranging from bubbling relief to pleasurable, shouting excitement.

Brazilian officials, immediately after disembarkation of the nearly 600 passengers and 366 of the crew, moved to occupy the hijacked vessel.

This tended to immobilize it in the face of rebel Capt. Henrique Galvao's vow to take it back to sea.

Depletion of his fuel and food supplies, engine trouble and defections among his rebel followers who appeared to jump at the change for asylum in Brazil, left the swashbuckling author-adventurer Galvao with little hope of extending his bold stroke to topple strongman Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar of Portugal.

Passengers leaving the ship after a wearing 12 days of apparent aimless cruising in the South Atlantic told of the tensions — and even fights — that built up during the strange odyssey.

Women became hysterical. Men fought among themselves over trivialities. Some plotted to wrest control from the rebels. Others threatened a hunger strike. The crew talked of mutiny.

Passengers, Captors Clash

The final explosion came just before agreement was reached on disembarking when a group of third class passengers invaded the ship's first class saloon and clashed with their armed captors. "We were determined to make the Brazilians get the rebels off the ship so we could proceed to our original destination," said Antonio Garcia Cabrera, leader of the insurgent passengers.

"We entered the first class saloon and a group of rebels advanced to meet us. Pushing started and a large glass door was shattered. The rebels pulled pistols. One of them hit me on the shoulder with a pistol."

Garcia Cabrera said the dispute ended as a boarding party of Brazilian naval officers entered the saloon.

U.S. Atlantic Fleet headquarters in Norfolk, Va., reported that Adm. Dias Fernandes, commander of Brazil's Third Naval District, was putting a company of Marines aboard the Santa Maria. He was quoted as saying only 24 rebels remained aboard and he hoped Galvao would turn the ship over to him by 11 a.m. (EST) Friday. Adm. Allen E. Smith Jr., U.S. Caribbean area commander, was quoted as saying at Recife: "It looks as if the game is about over."

Some Laugh, Others Cry

The anxiety that reached near panic was apparent in the nervous jubilation of the disembarking passengers. They shouted, laughed and cried as they were slowly ferried by tugs from the Santa Maria, brought in close to a Recife dock.

Other passengers reacted similarly as they waited their turns to come ashore. 2,800 miles from where the luxury liner was seized in the Caribbean Jan. 22 while en route to Port Everglades, Fla., thousands of cheering Brazilians greeted the passengers from the dock area.

Some of the 45 American passengers said the worst thing about the ordeal was the uncertainty as to what would happen next.

Rebel Capt. Henrique Galvao was given permission to sail his ship back beyond the three-mile limit but port officials said nearly all his 70 followers who seized the

Soviet Urges U. S. Accept Congo Plan

But Zorin Renews
Attacks On Dag In Addressing Adlai

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union challenged the new United States administration Thursday to follow "a new road" toward peace in the Congo.

But Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin, in issuing this challenge in the U.N. Security Council, maintained a harsh attack on Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, and made clear the new approach must be based on previous Soviet demands.

Stevenson Regrets Attacks

Addressing his remarks directly to U.S. chief delegate, Adlai E. Stevenson, Zorin said: "We await an answer from the new representative of the United States whether he is ready to join us in following the new road."

Stevenson made no immediate reply in the council, but in a statement issued to newsmen said:

"I regret that Mr. Zorin did not address himself to the secretary-general's proposal for taking all of the Congolese armed forces out of politics."

Aides said he probably would not speak on the Congo question until late next week — perhaps after next Thursday's Cabinet meeting in Washington where the Congo question is under review.

Zorin Boosts Soviet Plan

Zorin declared that peace in the Congo could be achieved only by doing what the Soviet Union had advocated in the past.

This would include the immediate liberation of deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba, the disarming of Maj. Gen. Joseph Mobutu's army, the ouster of all Belgians from the Congo and a new session of the Congolese Parliament, which twice voted confidence in Lumumba after President Joseph Kasavubu fired him last September.

Bruce Will Be British Envoy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy Thursday chose veteran diplomat David K. E. Bruce to be ambassador to Britain.

The selection of Bruce, who will be formally nominated shortly, was Kennedy's first choice of an ambassador to an individual country since he took office.

Bruce, who will be 63 Feb. 12, has had wide experience in the diplomatic field and in related posts.

Former President Harry S. Truman appointed him as ambassador to France in 1949.

Bruce served as under secretary of state in 1952. The next year, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower made him a special observer on the United Nations in defense committee of the European Defense Community.

From 1957 to 1960 Bruce was U.S. ambassador to West Germany.

A native of Baltimore, Md., Bruce attended Princeton University, University of Virginia and the University of Maryland Law School.

East In Record Freeze; Snow Clogs Midwest

By United Press International

A sidewalk-buckling, record-breaking deep freeze gripped the East and a snowstorm unrolled a carpet of snow up to 11 inches deep across the Midwest on Groundhogs Day.

In the eastern two-thirds of the nation, it was a day for polar bears, not for groundhogs, on the storied bellwether day of the late winter season.

A record cold wave sent the mercury skidding to an unofficial 54 below at Florence, N.Y., gave wide areas of the Eastern Seaboard their coldest weather of the season and chilled northern sections of Dixie with freezing temperatures.

A swirling storm dumped 11 inches of snow on northeastern Iowa, clogging highways and snarling traffic, and shoved southward toward the Ohio Valley, pushing a treacherous belt of ice ahead of it.

Spencer, Iowa, was hardest hit with 11 inches. Humboldt reported 9 inches and Fort Dodge 7.

Forecasters indicated the fall would taper off as the storm shoved across Missouri and Illinois into Indiana, Ohio and Kentucky. Over most of the area, accumulations of 1 to 4 inches were expected.

The Punxsutawney, Pa., groundhog saw a faint shadow when he poked his nose out of his lair on Gobbler's Knob in 30 below-zero weather. His faithful followers said that meant the nation can expect six more weeks of winter.

New York City's 2-below reading set a season low, equalled the record low for Feb. 2 marked up in 1881, and caused delays in all major rail transportation in the metropolitan area.

Pittsburgh's minus - 6 reading broke an 80-year-old record. It also froze and burst a water main in suburban Carnegie, buckling a Main Street sidewalk and cracking store windows.

Kennedy Proposes Program To Revive Sputtering Economy

Would Up Old Age, Jobless Benefits

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy—discussing that jobless-benefit program in January—Thursday unfolded a broad plan to "abate the waste and misery" of unemployment and revive the sputtering economy.

Saying some minor business improvement is expected this year, Kennedy told Congress further deterioration is possible "if we fail to act."

As might be expected, Republicans called Kennedy's special economic message unduly pessimistic while Democrats said Kennedy has spelled out the "New Frontiers" for a dynamic economy.

In his antirecession message to

April Visit Set By Macmillan

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy Thursday announced his first use of big-time personal diplomacy. He will play host to Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan during the week of April 2.

Macmillan will not be the first foreign government chief to stop off to see the new President. But he will be the first Kennedy visitor who leads a major world power.

The first foreign chief to stop by, the State Department said, will be Denmark's Prime Minister Viggo Kampmann. Kampmann, on a Feb. 11-19 visit to this country, is ticketed for a White House stop Feb. 14.

And late in February Australia's Prime Minister Robert Menzies is expected to drop in at the Pennsylvania Avenue mansion on his way to a British Commonwealth prime ministers' meeting in London.

The visits of Menzies and Kampmann are described as getting acquainted affairs.

Macmillan's visit is slated to cover both getting acquainted and business. "A general discussion of world problems," was how the White House announcement phrased it.

Noted Walker Fined For Careless Driving

LONDON (AP) — The world's best known walker was fined Thursday for careless driving.

A suburban Traffic Court fined Dr. Barbara Moore $14 for causing an accident by driving on the wrong side of a highway island Dec. 23. Her car was wrecked. It happened on the same stretch of road she trudged on her 1,000-mile walk from the top to bottom of Britain, to demonstrate her belief in exercise and vegetarian diet. ### Defense Chief Orders Troop Airlift Planes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara disclosed Thursday that he has ordered 53 big troop-carrying planes for the nation's combat airlift, including the first jet transports assigned to such missions.

McNamara told his first Pentagon news conference the expansion of the airlift, ordered by President Kennedy, will cost $30 million during the initial stages and will require Congress to vote an additional $170 million later.

The planes, which could be used to rush American fighting men to trouble spots anywhere in the world, are scheduled for delivery starting July 1.

Kennedy had ordered immediate action on the program as part of his drive to beef up the nation's overall military strength—conventional as well as missile—before entering into serious negotiations with Russia.

McNamara also revealed that American military personnel and their families overseas are being asked to cut their annual spending by an average of $80 each to slow the critical drain on U.S. gold reserves.

The President revoked an Eisenhower order sharply reducing the number of military dependents overseas. McNamara said the $80-per-person cut will save almost as much this year as the abandoned program for bringing dependents home.

Hole Torn In One Coach

The third, fourth and fifth coaches followed the spur and derailed but did not overturn. They were badly smashed and one had a gaping hole torn in its side.

The last two derailed coaches remained on the main line as did the four coaches which stayed on the rails. Two tracks of the three-track main line were torn up, but the other remained open and trains still were able to operate on it.

The train was carrying passengers to Bowie, where a 48-day winter racing meet is in progress.

The card went ahead as scheduled, but the ninth and last race was called off because of a fire in an empty grandstand annex building at the head of the stretch.

The fire, which broke out during the eighth race, poured heavy smoke over the track and blocked visibility. The building, containing ticket windows, is used only on race days in which the crowd overflows from the main grandstand.

No one was hurt in the fire.

130 Injured As 7
Coaches Of PRR
Special Derailed

BOWIE, Md. (AP) — Six persons were killed and about 130 were injured Thursday when a special train carrying some 300 passengers derailed near Bowie Race Course.

Rescue workers searched the seven battered and tilted coaches until darkness covered the southern Maryland countryside, without finding additional victims. The dead included five passengers and a dining car waiter.

A spokesman for the Pennsylvania Railroad said one coach, in which a seventh body was believed to have been trapped, was thoroughly searched and no body was found.

The coach will not be moved until Friday but the spokesman said authorities were reasonably certain no more victims would be found.

The 11-car train originated in Philadelphia and picked up additional passengers at five stops along the way.

The crash occurred about three miles from the race track, at a point where the train leaves the main line and enters a spur track to the left side.

90 Treated At Hospital

More than 90 persons were treated at nine hospitals in the Baltimore-Washington area and another 40 were treated by the race track physician.

The railroad said the dead were:

Robert B. Seldomridge, Lancaster, Pa.

Fred W. Cramer Jr., York, Pa.

BOWIE, Md. (AP)—One of the passengers injured when a special train derailed near Bowie Race Course Thursday reached the racing plant well after the program had gotten under way.

Limping, his face dirty and his clothes disheveled, the middle-aged man headed toward the mutuel window.

"Hey, buddy, you're hurt," a track employee said. "You'd better go to the infirmary."

"I'll get straightened out later," the fan replied. "I got to get a bet on the fourth race. I came all the way from Philadelphia to play this horse."

dining car waiter.

The engineer, Howard W. Horner, 62, of Camden, N.J., told state police his brakes failed to slow the train as it approached a cutoff leading to the race track some three miles away.

Horner said he was traveling at about 30 miles an hour when he tried to apply the brakes.

The two diesel engines pulling the train derailed and toppled on their side down an embankment between the main line and the spur. The next two coaches followed the engine and were tilted as they left the track.

GOP To Oppose Some Kennedy Job Aid Moves

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republican position on President Kennedy's program to fight the recession began to take form Thursday, a blend of acceptance and opposition.

The acceptance was unenthusiastic and it greeted those measures of Kennedy that need no approval from Congress.

The opposition appeared to be in store for the measures that demand more spending by Congress.

The Republican position was discussed at the first of a series of weekly meetings of the two GOP congressional leaders, Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana and Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

Asked about Kennedy's first steps to combat the recession, Halleck told newsmen: "We find no great quarrel with them but we do not find them altogether earthshaking."

Kennedy, at his news conference Wednesday, announced these steps: An experimental food stamp program, a speed-up on the payment of G. I. insurance dividends, and a cut in the maximum interest rate on FHA-insured loans.

The President also sent an economic message to Congress Thursday. In it he called for faster federal spending, higher old age pensions, and an emergency extension of unemployment pay.

Neither Halleck nor Dirksen would comment on the economic message after their discussion, but Dirksen, before reading the message, had told newsmen he was afraid there would be a heavy impact on the budget when Kennedy spelled out his economic proposals.

"You have to wait until the wagon train gets to the new frontier and starts unloading its cargo," Dirksen said.

"It all gets around to the question of what you are going to use for money."

Halleck, however, noted that Kennedy, both in the State of the Union address Monday and the news conference, had stressed the importance of a balanced budget.

Adenauer Acclaims Kennedy Leadership

BRONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said Thursday, "We can look upon President Kennedy's leadership with trust and hope."

It was the first public statement on the new U.S. President from the chancellor since the inauguration, and was made in a foreword he wrote to the government's annual summary called "German Politics."

Adenauer said further that Kennedy already "has given enough proof that the causes of the free world are in sure, firm hands."

Kennedy Plans Labor-Industry "Summit" Panel

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy announced Thursday he will establish a top labor-management policy group to seek wage-price stability and smooth American industry's adjustment to technological change.

Kennedy said in his economic message to Congress he will issue an executive order creating a 21-member presidential advisory committee on labor-management policy made up of labor, management and public members.

The group would be in effect a continuing labor-management "summit" body with the government sitting in as a full partner. Chairmanship of the panel, which would have a mission far broader than run-of-the-mill labor disputes, would be rotated annually between the secretary of commerce and the secretary of labor.

Kennedy outlined the group's role as one to "promote free and responsible collective bargaining, industrial peace, sound wage policies, sound price policies and stability, a higher standard of living, increased productivity, and America's competitive position in world markets."

Success of the advisory committee will depend, of course, on the willingness of traditional employer and labor union protagonists to find common ground to solve mutual problems. Until now, except under the compelling pressures of world wars, the labor-management consultative process hasn't worked out very well.

But Kennedy plainly wants to give the idea another try with his new committee. "It will consider national manpower needs and the special benefits and problems created by automation and other technological advances," Kennedy said.

The last battle of the American Revolution was fought near Charleston, S. C., Aug. 27, 1782.

Kennedy Children Will Join Parents

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's two young children are flying back from sunny Florida Friday amid forecasts of a new Washington snowstorm.

The youngsters have been staying at the Kennedy family home at Palm Beach while their quarters in the White House were being redecorated.

Everything is now in readiness, including a new nursery for baby John Jr., White House press secretary Pierre Salinger announced Thursday.

Mrs. Kennedy will meet the youngsters at the airport when the Kennedy family plane, named for 3-year-old Caroline, arrives between 4:30 and 5 p.m.

It will be the first time since the days of Theodore Roosevelt that the young children of a president have lived in the White House.

Cubans Shift Jobs

HAVANA (AP)—Revolution reported from Guantanamo Thursday that Cuban "private" employees at the U.S. naval base have voted to quit their jobs and enroll in volunteer sugar cane cutting battalions. The newspaper gave no idea how many of the approximately 1,000 Cuban employees in this class at the base were involved. The "private" employees in this class at the base were involved. The "private" employees work as house servants and similar nonnaval duties. The bulk of Cubans at the base are regular Civil Service employees.

Culver Fights Bill Threatening His Insurance Firm

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Del. Charles F. Culver, vice chairman of a House committee, Thursday personally led a fight in it against a bill that would ruin an insurance business of which he is president. Culver protested that the bill would affect only the Security Financial Insurance Co. he heads and in which two of his Democratic Baltimore County colleagues also have an interest. F. Douglass Sears, insurance commissioner, conceded the proposed legislation might affect only Culver's company, "but not necessarily."

Culver refused to disclose details of the hearing before the House Banking Committee the names of owners of the company stock. That information cannot be given to the press," Culver said. Also listed as officers of the association are Dels. Roy N. Staten and A. Gordon Boone. The listed chairman of the board of directors is Michael J. Birmingham.

The security company is the only one in Maryland insuring savings and loan deposits.

TV, Books, Arts Called Church's 'New Frontier'

BUCK HILL FALLS, Pa. (UPI)—The "new frontier" for the church lies in the world of television, book publishing and the arts, a Protestant home mission leader said here this week.

The Rev. Dr. Robert W. Spike, of New York City, told the mid-winter meeting of the Congregational Christian Churches that the "world of culture makers" should be the new concern of the church.

Dr. Spike said that "we cannot afford to think of the mission of the church only in terms of building new churches in residential communities" and must go where men and women are working.

He added that the "Jungle of mass communications is the place where millions of dollars are spent that effect the shape and values of our whole nation."

He called for a "new version of the itinerant minister who in another time went out to preach the gospel and not to found churches."

The church leader recommended a "commission of special ministers to work, for example, among the young actors and writers in Hollywood." He added that "I should like to see a similar ministry in the television industry in New York."

Program Expanded

WASHINGTON (UPI)—George McGovern, director of the administration's Food for Peace program, took action Wednesday to expand government food donations to U.S. religious and charitable agencies which distribute food to needy people overseas.

McGovern asked Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman to allocate corn, cottonseed, peanut, or soybean oils to the religious and charitable agencies through the next 18 months. Congress provided specific authority for food oil donations in September, 1958. McGovern pointed out, but the authority has never been used.

Hemisphere Week

By FRANCIS L. MCCARTHY

Look for an early offer by the Kennedy administration to help the new Janio Quadros regime in Brazil cope with its most immediate problem—galloping inflation. Quadros has assumed an office with an empty till. With payments on more than $200 million in foreign debts soon due, he must have outside aid.

A political eccentric but an orthodox economist, Quadros presumably must quickly ask Brazil's foreign creditors for a moratorium on state obligations.

The present economic situation in Brazil is so precarious, that most foreign observers believe there is no way in which it can be met and resolved without urgent help from abroad.

The new revolutionary coup in EL Salvador has effectively headed off Fidel Castro's attempt to get a Central American foothold for his Cuban revolution.

Until the new rightist junta threw out the civic-military group which only last October ousted the constitutionally-elected Lemus regime, Castro was doing fine in the tiny Central American Republic.

Although the group which tossed out Lemus in a bloodless coup repeatedly professed democratic leanings, its performance did not live up to the pledge. The Cuban Embassy became a nerve center for the distribution of Communist propaganda.

7 Million Workers Won 1960 Pay Hikes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Nearly seven million workers, or 85 per cent of all those covered by major collective bargaining contracts, won wage increases last year, the Labor Department reported Wednesday.

A shade more than half the workers received raises averaging less than nine cents an hour, according to preliminary estimates. Twenty per cent more, about 1.4 million, gained between 10 and 11 cents.

Of all the workers who won increases, 4.3 million were employed under contracts that were renewed in 1960. Most of the others got higher pay under earlier agreements.

The earliest marine insurance contracts were recorded in England in 1583.

Creation Of Jet Airlift Force Is Considered

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Quick creation of a new jet airlift force was being considered this week as the possible backbone of President Kennedy's plans for increasing U.S. capacity to fight "brush-type" wars anywhere in the world.

Although no final decision has been made, Defense Department authorities are studying the possibility of buying a large number of commercial-type jet transports for conversion to troop carriers. The cost might run as much as $1 billion over the next two or three years.

The nation's airborne combat forces now are dependent on propeller-driven transports for delivering troops to cold war trouble spots that might flare into Korea-type "hot" conflicts.

But Kennedy made it plain in his State of the Union address to Congress that he believes speed is essential. He said he had ordered prompt action for "obtaining additional air transport mobility — and obtaining it now."

Defense officials said such an accelerated program did not appear to envision the time it would take to build newly designed planes.

Construction of additional propeller-driven strategic types is not favored, the officials said, because jets are much faster and more economical over long distances.

An Air Force compromise suggests that the military forces buy as many as 100 large commercial type jets for delivery in the next two years.

The jets would be for overseas transportation. Propeller-driven planes would remain in service for some overseas assignments and for all "tactical" missions, including dropping paratroopers and other distribution of forces from major bases.

Communism, Castroism Rearing Heads In Brazil

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

RECIFE, Brazil (AP)—Here in this corner of the Americas misery and smouldering resentment are challenging Brazil's government and threatening the solidarity of hemispheric unity against Communist encroachments.

There are millions of hungry peasants in northeast Brazil. A fiery admirer of Fidel Castro has taken office in Pernambuco State, and he is taking hasty measures to counter the demands he makes on behalf of the peasants must be met, he says, or they will resort to revolutionary action.

And on the hot soil of this treacherous care, wary of making a crucially depressed area, revolutionary action under Francisco Juliao already has had a few trial runs. Juliao, 45, is often called the Communist leader in Brazil's northeast. He denies being a Communist. But as a politician and demagogue he takes the Communist line and expresses his admiration for what Fidel Castro has done in Cuba.

Here in Pernambuco State, Juliao's threat is regarded so seriously among them. He warns that the state government of Quadros, who took office last week as Brazil's president, is taking hasty measures to counter the demands he makes on behalf of the peasants must be met, he says, or they will resort to revolutionary action.

Security forces move with extra caution on the hot soil of this treacherous care, wary of making a Juliao moved in on the weak and ineffective Ligas Compostas (farmers' leagues) and organized them for action. About a year ago he was ready for a trial run—Ligas invasion of a privately owned farm. The state, powerless to do anything else, subsequently bought the farm with the intention of trying orderly allotment of land. But there were too many peasants for it, and the state bought two other farms nearby to take care of the excess.

Juliao convinced his followers his pressure had forced the state's hand. At any rate, the illiterate peasants saw results. The Ligas grew in strength and numbers, spreading to other states. In some, like Maranhao to the northeast of Pernambuco, the Juliao movement was regarded as an imminent threat to the existing order.

Officials in Recife say Juliao had no intention of letting any credit reflect on the state government, and was intent on keeping the situation in a state of confusion. Early this month he massed about 400 barefoot, poverty-stricken peasants—men, women and children—with the aid of a few left-wing, extremist Castro and Communist admirers from Recife's university. He armed the peasants with ancient rifles and sugar-cane knives and marched them to two farms where the state was preparing to receive an orderly influx of families.

This time the action challenged the state itself. Security forces moved in, but carefully. Not a peasant was hurt, and one by one the police sent them back to their homes. But Juliao's pressure had a decided impact, both in the country and in the misery-laden slums of Recife, half of whose 800,000 people live at bare subsistence level. The city's left-wing mayor was building a formidable political machine with the apparent intention of running for governor in 1962. Mayor Miguel Arraes' Movement of Popular Culture has been so cleverly organized that he has obliged people of all political complexions—even including church dignitaries—to participate in its varied activities in the name of charity and public welfare.

Brazil's peasants always have been poor, and an almost feudal system of land ownership by absentee owners has kept them that way. Today, however, the situation is aggravated by conditions of crisis or near-crisis in much of Brazil's agriculture, from north to south.

The northeast undergoes a major drought at least once every seven years and many lesser droughts in between.

Peasants can work only a few months a year in the dry and semidry areas, where the land, in the best of conditions, already is harsh and ungenerous. For eight months they live a hand-to-mouth existence, undernourished, underclothed and housed in incredible conditions of disease-bearing filth. Some peasants eke out their existence by migrating to the sugar-cane areas for work during the harvesting season.

Gov. Cid Sampaio of Pernambuco State told me: "These people are becoming conscious of the idea that they must rise to their own defense. They are banding together to defend themselves."

"If the problems of the peasants are not solved soon, if poverty makes their situation unbearable, they will reach the point of despair."

He believes he will be able to accomplish a great deal to remedy the situation in a five-year program of land reform and industrialization.

But five years is a long time in Latin America's new era of popular revolution.

Population Shift
LONDON (UPI)—Western diplomats reported from Peking Wednesday that some 6 million Chinese men and women have been shifted forcibly in recent months from city and industry jobs for emergency work in Communist China's calamity-stricken agriculture.

The mass migration, ordered and supervised by the Communist Party, was believed by no means completed.

The Peking regime, the reports said, is desperately trying to prevent the nationwide disaster from becoming worse, even at the cost of a major slowdown in its ambitious plans to bring the country quickly into the forefront of industrial powers.

Juliao, slightly built, bushy-haired son of a wealthy landowner, has been building his organization carefully for six years. Thus his antedates Castroism, but there is no question the movement has been stimulated by the Cuban revolution.

Rees Taught Music Day Before, After Two Of Family Kidnaped

BALTIMORE (AP)—The owner of a Washington, D. C., music company testified Thursday that Melvin Davis Rees Jr. taught children music at his store the day before and the day after Sunday, Jan. 11, 1959.

The government contends that is the date on which the Hyattsville, Md., musician kidnaped a mother and daughter near their Apple Grove, Va., home, and buried their beaten bodies in a shallow grave 125 miles to the north near Gambrells, Md.

William Flynn, owner and operator of the Flynn Music Co. was the first witness to testify about Rees in four days of testimony from 31 government witnesses in Rees' kidnap trial in U. S. District Court.

Until Thursday, the 32-year-old defendant sitting impassively beside his attorneys had been almost the forgotten man in the trial which began Jan. 25. The name of Rees had not been mentioned since opening statements to the jury by government attorneys and court-appointed defense lawyers.

Rees is being tried under a federal indictment accusing him of taking Mrs. Mildred Jackson, 27, and her 5-year-old daughter, Susan across a state line in violation of the Lindbergh law.

All four members of the Jackson family disappeared Jan. 11, 1959, and were found slain two months later. Carroll Vernon Jackson Jr., 29, and an 18-month-old daughter, Janet, were found near Fredericksburg, Va.

Rees, who has pleaded innocent to the federal charges, is accused of murder by Maryland and Virginia.

Flynn told the all-male jury Rees taught 14 children Saturday, Jan. 10, and seven pupils plus two hands Monday, Jan. 12.

Cross-examined by defense attorney William J. Evans, Flynn said the youngsters Rees taught ranged from 7 to 16 years old. Then came this exchange between Evans and Flynn:

Q — Was his work satisfactory? A — Very satisfactory.

Q — Did he get along with the students all right? A — Yes, sir.

Q — Ever have any complaints? A — No, sir.

Q — When was he last employed? A — His last pay period was Jan. 22.

Q — Know what his reasons were for leaving? A — He got more money somewhere else.

Q — Did he have any references? Were they all good references? A — Yes, sir. They were very good.

Flynn did not say what type of music Rees taught at his store. The defendant is proficient on the saxophone, clarinet and piano. He was selling pianos when arrested by the FBI last June at a piano store in West Memphis, Ark.

Flynn said Rees worked for him continuously from Sept. 29, 1958, through Jan. 22, 1959.

Chief Judge Roszel C. Thomsen adjourned court until Monday after the testimony by Flynn, the last of the day's eight government witnesses.

The trial is expected to last three weeks or more.

Maryland Briefs

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The U. S. Frigate Constellation has been presented to Maryland by the Navy Department, the State Department of Economic Development said Thursday.

The vessel, the nation's oldest battleship and the only surviving vessel that served in the Civil War, has been in Baltimore Harbor undergoing restoration for the past two years.

The restoration has cost $150,000 so far, the Maryland agency said, and an estimated $200,000 more will be required to complete work. When fully restored, the frigate will be used as the flag ship of the Civil War Centennial Celebration.

Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz is chairman of the restoration committee.

LEONARDTOWN, Md. (AP)—Two counts of manslaughter were filed Thursday against the mother of two small children whose bodies were found in a heaterless car, off the road in a snow bank near here.

Mrs. Leona Travis, 32, Negro, of nearby Valley Lee in St. Marys County, was ordered held in $3,000 bail in connection with the deaths of the infants — 14-months-old Lender C. Morgan and his half-brother, Oral C. Travis, 2 years.

One count of manslaughter was filed against Thomas Morgan, 42, Negro, father of the younger of the boys. His bail also was set at $3,000.

A second man who was with the couple when State Police found the car Tuesday night was held in $100 bail on charges of being drunk and disorderly. He was identified as Vernon Barnes, 32, Negro.

SNOW HILL, Md. (AP)—A Worcester County school teacher who would have celebrated her 62nd birthday Friday was killed Wednesday in a collision near here.

The victim, Mrs. Helen E. Tull of Stockton, had taught in Worcester County for 44 years and was a teacher at Snow Hill High School for 15 years. Mrs. Tull was killed on Md. 354 when her car collided with one driven by Julie Anne Henderson, 21, also of Stockton. Miss Henderson was hospitalized with cuts.

Judge Dismisses Trespass Charge Against Pacifists

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—A federal judge has dismissed trespassing indictments against eight pacifist demonstrators arrested at a nuclear submarine launching. The eight, members of the Committee for Non-Violent Action, came by small boats into the launching area when the atom sub Ethan Allen was sent down the ways at Groton, Nov. 22. Two swam to the Allen and pulled themselves up onto the bunting that decorated her bow.

All members of the group were charged with entering an area that had been posted off limits by the Navy and with knowingly trying to hinder the launching.

U.S. District Judge Robert F. Anderson tossed out the trespassing indictments Wednesday. But the judge's action does not affect additional charges against the two who swam to the sub and dragged themselves aboard—a misdemeanor, or with a maximum penalty of a year in prison and a $5,000 fine.

Youth Charged With Setting Clinic Afire

BALTIMORE (AP)—Baltimore police charged a 17-year-old youth Thursday with setting a fire at a building operated as an out-patient clinic.

Roger F. Blakney was charged with setting a fire Wednesday at Old University Hospital, which forced the evacuation of about 200 out-patients and clinical workers. No one was injured in the blaze, which apparently started in a linen closet of the old brick building. Police said Blakney had signed a statement admitting that he started the fire.

The sea horse is believed to be the only fish with a grasping tail.

Hard-Hit Johnstown Area Is Struggling Back

EDITOR'S NOTE: Waiting for something to turn up can slowly strangle a man's soul. Thousands of former coal miners and unemployed steel workers know this well. Relief measures in the hard-hit coal and steel country keep some going. But that's not enough.

Johnstown, Pa., is struggling back, seeking new industries and retraining programs. Nate Polowetzky, assistant general business editor of The Associated Press, is touring depressed labor areas, tells in the following article how the men and their communities are faring.

By NATE POLOWETZKY
JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—About 10 miles outside Johnstown is the small soft coal mining community of St. Michael.

It is a desolate town. The mines shut down there about three years ago in the general decline of the industry and, according to one old miner, "not a wheel has turned since."

Day by day the men while away the hours at union clubs, talking, and waiting for something to "turn up." It never does. "We exist through relief," said one of them. "Some live on surplus food given out by the government. Others pick up odd jobs and still others have wives who are working."

"Taking relief is no way to live, with inspectors always snooping around. Especially if you've worked hard all your life. The men accept relief but I think with a subconscious feeling of shame."

St. Michael is part of the "depressed" two-county Johnstown area, where some 16,000 men were out of work as of mid-December, 1960—a 16.9 per cent unemployment rate. This compares with the present national figure of about 7 per cent of the total labor force.

Coal mining and the steel industry were the two props to whatever prosperity the Johnstown area achieved through the years.

But with the decline in both industries — and the permanent drops in employment through automation, and new technological processes — Johnstown has become a consistent depressed area.

Ray Myers, 35, is one of St. Michael's unemployed—out of a job for almost a year. He picked up his last unemployment compensation check last December.

Myers has four children and another expected next month. His wife, Rosemary, has been working as a bookkeeper in the company store in St. Michael but will have to quit work soon.

Says Myers, a miner since 1941 (except for 3½ years in the army):

"I spend my time watching them four little Indians while the wife works. It's a lot the same all over St. Michael. I'd rather work anytime than be a baby sitter. Now the wife has to stop work. I don't know what happens then. I guess I'll just have to join the rest at the relief office."

The situation has hurt industries allied to both steel and coal as well as small retail businesses.

However, about 5,000 women have found work in new apparel and needle trade industries in the area and their earnings have helped keep consumer spending at a fairly high level, so that in Johnstown, at least, no long established business has failed.

But to such "small" businessmen as Lewis Cornell, 63, the unemployment is a real and immediate problem.

Cornell has been operating a small service station, where he also sells candies and soft drinks. He has been in business since 1941 even while working as a coal miner.

"Altogether I was in the mines for 41 years. I've been out 8 years. Our business here has fallen to about zero. I used to do about 500 gallons of gas a week. Now we're lucky if we have anywhere near that a month."

"How do the families exist? Well, many women work in garment factories. The men don't feel very good about it but what can they do?"

In Johnstown and other "depressed" areas throughout Pennsylvania men and women crowd into employment offices to collect compensation checks or seek jobs that don't exist. Some 433,000 persons were unemployed in the state as of mid-December, 1960.

Sometimes there are jobs, but calling for skills the unemployed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Mt. Rainier Coal Co., a wholly-owned subsidiary of Pacific Coast Co. announced Wednesday it has signed a contract "in excess of $8 million" with eight Japanese steel mills for delivery of 800,000 tons of coal.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Electric energy output throughout the nation rose to a new all time high, the Edison Electric Institute reported Wednesday.

Output rose to 15,361,000,000 kilowatthours in the week ended Jan. 28, from 14,817,000,000 a week earlier and 14,417,000,000 in the same week last year.

All geographic sections showed substantial increases over the similar period of last year.

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — A Universal Match, Inc. subsidiary has announced plans to manufacture a line of coin-operated self-service dry cleaning equipment for Standard, Inc., a manufacturer and distributor in Little Rock, Ark.

DALLAS, Texas (UPI) — Southwestern Life Insurance Co. will buy for $29 million cash more than 99 per cent of the capital stock of Atlantic Life Insurance Co., Richmond, Va., from Life Companies, Inc., Richmond.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Beech-Nut Life Savers, Inc. announced on Wednesday it has acquired all of the outstanding stock of Martinson's Coffee, Inc. for an undisclosed cash sum. Martinson produces coffee for sale in retail stores and restaurants under the Martinson and Aborn brands, packages several private brands and makes Jomar instant coffee.

MONTREAL (UPI) — Aluminium Limited has completed arrangements to purchase a majority interest in the Argentine company Antonio Vernocchi S. A. of El Palomar. Buenos Aires, it was announced Wednesday. A spokesman for both companies said the re-equipment and expansion of the Vernocchi firm will get under way soon.

Largest Magazine

LONDON (UPI) — London's left-wing Daily Mirror group appeared to be on the way Wednesday towards formation of the world's largest magazine empire.

Canadian magnate Roy Thomson was reported preparing to withdraw from the battle with the Mirror for control of Odhams Press, one of Britain's largest newspaper and magazine publishing houses.

If the Mirror group buys out Odhams, it will control four national newspapers and more than 160 magazines — many of them with circulations running into millions.

It would be the largest group of its kind in the world.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — Husbands in the doghouse now can put all their apologies in one basket.

The basket of goodies for a wife on the warpath ranks as a best-seller among offerings concocted by a young New York firm trying to prove that whatever is to be said can be said in a basket.

Ethel Aaron, president of the firm (Bedside Manna Inc.), said that an order for a basket only can be filled after the customer fills out a questionnaire about the recipient.

Questions include such personal subjects as age, wrinkles, weight, loves, hates, and status of health.

"All gifts are long lasting and do not include food, fruit or flowers," Miss Aaron said.

In addition to the "reconciliation-basket" for the hubby in the doghouse, Miss Aaron said other popular baskets include the "bride-across-the-threshold-basket" and the "defense-against-loneliness" basket for a youngster going away to school for the first time.

A typical "reconciliation-basket" contains two nesting doves settled in a shocking pink nest, soap, shampoo goggles, a gay night cap and pillow cases decorated with butterflies.

Windsor Fire Quelled

WINDSOR, England (AP) — Fire broke out Wednesday in a room at Windsor Castle, massive medieval residence of Queen Elizabeth II.

The blaze was confined to a bedroom in the King Edward III tower. The castle, on high ground overlooking the Thames, is 23 miles west of London.

No members of the royal family were in residence.

Textile Union Elects James Stewart President

James R. Stewart has been elected president of Celanese Local 1874, United Textile Workers Union (AFL-CIO), in runoff balloting Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Stewart, who is completing his third term as vice president of the local, defeated John G. Thomas, in the runoff that resulted when no clear decision was apparent in the regular election last week.

Thomas is completing his fourth term as president. Election officials said the turnout for the balloting was "very good," with approximately 1,075 Amcelle employees casting votes. Stewart, a veteran member of the union, won by a sizeable margin.

In the only other runoff voting, Kenneth Lowery and Glenn Campbell were elected members of the local's executive board. Four other members of the six-man board were named in the general election. They were Robert Blair, James Broderick, Lillian Burch and James Filsinger.

Lowery is reported to have won election handily, while Campbell was involved in a tight race with two other runoff candidates, Stanley Morgan and Charles Bird. Morgan was running for re-election.

The new executive board is composed of three members who won re-election, Lillian Burch, Blair and Filsinger, and three new members, Lowery, Campbell and Broderick.

Officials of the union said they were pleased with the interest shown in both the general and runoff elections, explaining that the large numbers of voters indicated an interest in the operations of the local.

Melvin Sloan was elected to succeed Stewart as vice president in the general balloting. Also named then was Robert L. Jones.

secretary-treasurer, and Francis (Pie) Harvey, who will start his 14th term as warden.

A member of Local 1874 since its formation in 1936, Stewart previously had served single terms as warden and on the executive board. He also has been a member of the shop committee since 1936 and was chairman of the committee.

Employed at the Amcelle plant since 1933, Stewart works in the filtration department. Active in sports, he has helped coach the basketball teams of Trinity Lutheran Church, last year leading the team to the championship of the YMCA Sunday School League.

He and his wife, the former Miss Eleanor Schiller, reside at 623 Columbia Avenue with a daughter, Donna Rae Stewart. Another daughter, Mrs. Norma Stevanus, resides in Cresaptown. The Stewarts also have four grandchildren.

Petition For Case Review Refused By Judge

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris yesterday denied a petition by Anguse Linwood Campbell, who is serving three years in the state penitentiary, for a review of his case under the Post Conviction Procedure Act.

Campbell was sentenced to the penitentiary after he entered a plea of guilty to assault of a 45-year-old local married woman last May.

Earl E. Manges was appointed by the court to represent Campbell at yesterday's action with Donald W. Mason, assistant state's attorney, presenting the state's case. Judge Harris said he would file a written opinion in the matter at a later date.

Campbell's contention that his constitutional rights were violated by being tried on criminal information filed by State's Attorney James S. Getty without an indictment by the grand jury was ruled invalid.

Also his contention that his rights were violated by testimony of an accomplice and that this testimony was false were ruled invalid because Campbell entered a plea of guilty.

Campbell's plea that his rights were violated because his two accomplices in the assault were given lesser sentences was ruled invalid because the judge may impose any sentence he may deem proper within his discretion so long as it does not exceed the maximum set by law and in this case the maximum was not exceeded.

Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley of Garrett County presided at the trial of Campbell and the two accomplices and imposed the sentences on all three young men.

Trucker Is Fined

James R. Knopsnyder, Salisbury, Pa., was fined $86 and costs at a hearing yesterday before Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt on an overweight charge preferred by state weighing crews. Knopsnyder, who was arrested while hauling coal to the Amcelle plant, was driving with an overload of 4,300 pounds, it was charged.

Large Citizens Committee Is Pushing For University Program

The overwhelming approval of the plan to establish a center of the University of Maryland at Frostburg by practically all elements of the community is highly gratifying, Duane H. Little, chairman of the Western Maryland Committee on Higher Education, said yesterday.

Little, plant manager at Allegheny Ballistics Laboratory, said many persons have volunteered to serve on the committee that will work to gain support for the establishment of the university center at Frostburg State Teachers College.

In another development, the board of directors of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce announced yesterday that its membership unanimously voted to support the efforts of the Western Maryland communities to make the university center possible.

C. M. Sanner, president of the Chamber of Commerce, appealed to every citizen in Western Maryland to take the time to learn the facts of this important move and support the efforts to help secure the center.

Sanner said "The cultural development, the added educational opportunities for our children and the added incentive for the expansion of industry and attraction of new industries will be materially helped if we are successful in obtaining a center of the university at Frostburg."

Chairman Little said the response of volunteers for work on the committee has been so great that he had been unable to make a complete compilation of the members. Additional ones will be announced in the immediate future.

Others on the committee include:

George B. Newman, president, The Kelly-Springfield Tire Co.; Walter E. Dyck, plant manager, Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company; Morris D. Schepparo, industrial relations director, Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company; Woodward D. Pealer, manager, Kelly Tire Service; William S. Jenkins, attorney, vice president Frostburg National Bank; Garland L. Johnston, district manager, The Potomac Edison Company; Senator J. Glenn Beall; Lewis J. Ort, president, Maryland Mills; John J. McMullen, president, Times and Allegany Co.; Earl D. Chaney, president, Chaney Transportation Company.

Francis A. Kenney, manager, department of Employment Security; William L. Wilson Jr., president, Queen City Brewing Company; and attorney J. Goodloe Jackson, president, Allegany County Board of Education; C. M. Sanner, president, Cumberland Chamber of Commerce; John Stewart, treasurer, Tri-State Mine & Mill; Owen E. ## Allegany-Garrett Heart Fund Campaign Is Set At $20,970

A goal of $20,970 has been set which depends solely on contributions received through its own operations. The Heart Association of Maryland, which keep the Allegany-Garrett association up to date by providing field consultants, research reports, and scientific sessions.

The remaining $1,600 or so is tabbed for administration and fund raising expenses, without which none of the aforementioned functions could succeed.

In announcing the 1961 goal, the Allegany-Garrett County Heart Association said that contributions by residents of the two counties will add to the more than $50 million heart fund dollars that have been invested in research since the Heart Association became a national voluntary health agency in 1948.

The major objective of current research, according to James W. Bishop, association president, is to discover the causes of high blood pressure and hardening of the arteries, disorders that account for 90 per cent of heart and blood vessel diseases.

The fire spread from a parachute building to an electronics building. Navy firefighters extinguished it with chemical equipment after an hour.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (UPI)—Denmark's Prime Minister Viggo Kampmann is scheduled to meet President John F. Kennedy in Washington on Feb. 14, it was announced Thursday.

Hardy County Organizing Heart Drive

Special Chairmen Are Announced

MOOREFIELD — Dave Umstead, Hardy County Heart Fund Drive chairman, announces the appointment of Courtney R. Tusing, Wardensville, as assistant Heart Fund chairman for the eastern section of Hardy County.

Mrs. William J. Teets, chairman of the Hardy County Heart Committee, and Umstead, attended a meeting in Romney of county chairmen and the fund chairmen for the Panhandle area in preparation for the Annual Heart Fund Drive which opened Wednesday.

The drive will culminate with Heart Sunday, February 26 when solicitors will call house-to-house for donations. During the month the solicitations will be made at the business firms and in the schools.

Tusing announces that Mrs. Betty Orndorff will assist in the Wardensville and Baker area of the county and Mrs. Ervin Souder in the Mathias and Lost River Valley section of the county.

One third of all funds collected remains in Hardy County to take care of heart patients, blue babies, medicines and physicians fees for needy patients.

Food Stamp Plan May Be Given Trial

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginia officials pledged full cooperation with an experimental food stamp plan announced Wednesday by President Kennedy and said they would do everything possible to assure its success.

Public assistance director W. Bernard Smith said he had not yet been informed of full details of the project, but added:

"Governor (W. W.) Barron and the DPA stand ready to put this plan in operation and to do everything in our power to see that it is efficiently operated and successful."

A spokesman for the governor's office said the area where the pilot project will be set up will be selected by state officials.

State officials will remain in close touch with federal officials in charge of the program, to be tried on an experimental basis at locations in West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Eastern Kentucky, Southern Illinois and a state to be designated later.

There was no immediate indication how long it will take to set up the project.

Barron's office emphasized that the project will not bring any immediate change in the program for distribution of surplus commodities to needy families.

Under the food stamp plan, needy families will be given stamps which can be exchanged for certain food items at any grocery.

Enrollment At PSC Tops 1960 Figure

KEYSER — Enrollment for the second semester totaled 544 at the close of the two-day registration period Wednesday, with the figure to climb still higher with the inclusion of late registrants and of special students in music.

The enrollment total compares favorably with the figure from this time last year, which was 521, for regularly enrolled students. There were an additional 62 specials also enrolled in January 1960, for a total of 583.

Students unable to register Tuesday and Wednesday will still be accepted for admission for the next several days, but they will be expected to pay a $10. late registration fee and their absence from any classes will be counted against their allowance of cuts.

Registration for non-college students in music will be conducted in the office of Dean K. S. McKee, Saturday morning February 4 from 10 until 11. This registration is for those students who were already enrolled in piano the first semester. No new students are being accepted, except students interested in instrumental instruction other than piano, regardless of previous enrollment.

Nurse Assigned Pre-School Clinic

Delegates Poll W. Va. Police On Age Plan

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The four-member Logan County delegation in the House of Delegates is polling every member of the State Police to determine their views on a bill which would raise by five years the maximum age for members of the Department and Public Safety.

The delegates—Democrats Earl Hager, Luther H. Ghiz, Charlie Gore Jr. and Thomas W. Mathis—asked for unsigned comments.

They said in this way they hoped to determine whether they should support the bill. It would raise from 55 to 60 the age limit for members of the State Police and raise from 25 to 30 the number of years a member may serve before retirement.

Shortage Of Water Plagues Westernport Residential Area

WESTERNPORT—The shortage of water, especially in the Greene's Addition section of the town was discussed at the regular meeting of the Town Council Wednesday evening.

Mayor Ray L. Wilt, reported that Wilson Smith, an engineer of Glaze and Glaze Engineering Firm of Harrisburg, Pa., has been employed to make a survey of the situation.

Smith has returned to his office at Harrisburg who will send a report to town officials.

Thomas Johnson, an employee of the street department stated he had not driven any of the town vehicles at an excessive speed, as had been alleged.

Mayor Wilt and the Town Commissioners will meet with the Allegany County delegates and John Funk, chairman of the Maryland State Road Commission Thursday February 9, at 3 p. m. at the State House in Annapolis.

The meeting has been called to discuss the proposed new road construction through the town of Westernport.

Wardensville To Enforce Parking Ban

WARDENSVILLE — New parking regulations in the town of Wardensville became effective February 1, prohibiting parking for more than two consecutive hours on Main Street. The ordinance specified the extended parking is prohibited between the hours of 6 a. m. and 6 p. m. on all days except Sundays and holidays.

The penalties fixed by the Town Council range from $1 to $5 on the first offense, $10 to $25 on the second offense and $25 to $50 and a possible jail sentence on the third offense.

The ordinance was adopted December 6. Mayor J. Holmes Spence said the new regulation is necessary to control the parking of vehicles which has become a problem.

Dr. Ward K. Cole, is director and has announced that several other concerts are planned for the Tri-State Area.

West Virginia's Proposed Personal Income Tax Would Cost Average Worker Ten Cents Per Day

By BILL BARRETT
CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Gov. W. W. Barron's proposed State personal income tax, if enacted by the Legislature, would cost the average West Virginia worker about a dime a day.

Married men earning $75 a week, with no children, would only pay 8 cents per day into the state treasury, while those with one child would pay 6 cents, those with two children 4 cents and those with three 1½ cents. A person with four dependents would owe an amount equal to 6 per cent of the total he pays in federal income taxes. The tax would be withheld by employers to make it as painless as possible.

The tax, which is designed to raise $15 million a year in new revenue to provide for the unemployed, was put before the Legislature earlier this week. The proposed levy would require a person to pay to the state with four dependents would owe who would pay 6 cents daily to the state, now hands the federal government 96 cents a day.

To illustrate the difference between the cost of the state income tax and what you pay in federal income taxes, the $75-a-week single man, who would pay the weekly wages shown:

$80 — single, 11 cents; married and no children, 10 cents; two dependents, 8 cents; three dependents, 6 cents; four dependents, 5 cents.

Tax Allowances
For Education

Two lawmakers have proposed legislation in Washington to ease the burden of today's high cost of education while bypassing direct federal subsidy and control. Both Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater and New York Congressman Seymour Halpern want the federal government to make income tax allowances for parents while they send their children through school, but each is aiming at a different level of education.

Senator Goldwater would alleviate soaring costs of primary and secondary education by permitting a deduction of federal income taxes for local school taxes. His bill would have the effect of a $3 to $4 billion grant to local school boards simply by reimbursing the taxpayer for money spent in this area. The senator's plan has the merit of requiring no new administrative agency to oversee the dispensation, since money would be left at home instead of being sent to Washington for redistribution.

Representative Halpern proposes a measure more encompassing than Senator Goldwater's but designed to aid in the cost of a college education. He would permit deduction from gross income of the total amount paid to an institution of higher learning for a taxpayer or any of his dependents. In presenting his proposal, Representative Halpern quoted a University of Michigan survey which found the average cost of a year of undergraduate training for an unmarried person to be $1,550.

He also quoted records which showed 80 per cent of families with incomes between $5,000 and $7,500 intend to send their offspring to college, but less than 40 per cent ever reach the campus. And of those who do join the freshman ranks many drop out before completion of four years because of inadequate finances.

Both measures would aid considerably in underwriting the cost of education, without the usual clutter of administrative overhead.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Conservatives, Reactionaries

Conservatives are persons who believe that the progress of mankind must be within the margins of historic memory. Conservatives regard Liberals, in this century, as persons whose judgment permits them to run wild, to take unscrupled actions upon impulses. A Reactionary, on the other hand, is a person who resists change as adamantly as a Liberal welcomes change. The Conservative achieves more than the Liberal because his thinking is within national traditional margins. The Reactionary is destructive because he ignores all new factors in a situation; he lives in the past as though nothing has happened since some date which he fixed in his mind. In politics such a person may accept the period of Mark Hanna as the most suitable for the United States or in morals, the era of Cotton Mather as preferable. He very often rejects statistical data as not affecting his point of view. He insists that he possesses an unbreakable code of life. Nevertheless, he does not wear a Prince Albert coat of the 1890's or a stock of the early 1900's nor does his wife wear her hair a la Brunnhilde in a thick long braid wound around her skull.

The Reactionary does recognize fashion but cannot adjust to change. He believes in genealogy as a guide to character despite all the investigations that have been done in the psychology of inherited characteristics. The Conservative, like the Liberal, looks at all that comes up, but he screens current data through the sieve of universal experience, whereas the Liberal too often accepts the new as virtuous because it is new and different.

One says that a doctor is conservative who waits until something is proven about the side effects of a remedy. A doctor who is not conservative reads the attractive catalogue and experiments on his patients. The reactionary doctor says it is all bunk because it was not taught in his day in college. Some persons stop learning anything, except by experience, the day they get a cap and gown.

The Conservative in economics has an enormous respect for the hardness of money, recognizing that those nations which permitted their currencies to go soft and stay soft too long collapse politically and disappear from history. People, of course, do not disappear; only nations are conquered and absorbed. Nevertheless, there are strong men among every people who survive every adventure in history and relive their national traditions.

The Reactionary believes that some peoples are superior to others. The Conservative accepts superiority only on the basis of achievement, of character, of personality. He respects a political radical such as Einstein for his accomplishments in physics. The Reactionary is liable to say that Einstein's politics sounded nutty to him, ignoring all else. The Liberal is liable to accept Einstein's political views because he was so great a physicist.

Similarly the Reactionary says that Bertrand Russell is an immoral person because of his unorthodox views on marriage, ignoring the fact that Russell is one of the world's greatest mathematicians. The Conservative looks at his mathematics and his philosophy. The Liberals say that his views on marriage must have validity because he is an outstanding mathematician and philosopher.

Perhaps all this is too diagrammatic but it is substantially descriptive of the three broad points of view which influence opinion in this century. Of course, in addition, there are persons who might be described as articulate screw-balls who have no philosophy of life but who pick up some special aberration or hate and make a life of that. Such persons are deceptive, particularly among Conservatives, because whereas they may believe in the economics of the welfare state, they hate the Eisenhower Administration because it has enforced the Brown decision of the Supreme Court. Or, there are those who call themselves capitalists but prefer fiat to hard money. Or, there are some who believe firmly in the Constitution but would withhold its benefits from Jews, Catholics, Armenians, Syrians, Negroes and anybody else that comes to mind. Such persons often regard themselves as Conservatives which they are not because they reject historic memory; they are political and social narcissists. They know by instinct what is right, although instinct is a primitive rather than a cultured response of the mind.

The Conservative often finds himself married to the Reactionary over details and the miscegenation is confusing, just as the Liberal often finds himself tied to the Communist and is called a Lettie.

Now - How To Get It Out Of The Basement?

House Battle: Did The End Justify The Means?

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — 'Twas a Pyrrhic victory—the radicals won the battle over the plan to "pack" the House Rules Committee, but it's still a question as to who will win the real war. For it is mainly a war between those who believe in sound policies and those who advocate unsound policies in government. The margin of victory—only five votes — augurs trouble for the future. Not all those who voted with the radicals this time would vote for big spending programs.

On the surface, the controversy over the size of the House Rules Committee seemed a simple thing — the majority should rule, and no committee should be able to prevent legislation from getting to the floor for a vote.

But it wasn't that simple. Actually, the so-called crusade for the right of the majority to rule in the House of Representatives was just a vehicle for pressure politics.

In the corridors of the House brazen politics has been played. Members who didn't wish to vote as the Kennedy administration wanted them to vote were told they might be punished by losing the chance to get appointments for their favorite constituents.

There are plenty of ways, of course, to get a bill acted on in the House of Representatives. The rules provide that, by signing a petition, the majority can discharge a committee from considering a bill and thus get the measure before the House. But somehow it was decided by the radicals that a lesson should be taught Representative Howard W. Smith of Virginia, conservative Democrat. He happens to be a man who doesn't believe in spending the taxpayers' money for unnecessary purposes and just to get votes. He and a number of other Democrats have, in effect, formed a coalition with Republicans to keep the radicals from ruining the national economy by excessive spending. This coalition has operated successfully for many years to keep the so-called "liberals"—who are really liberal to a large extent only in the spending of the taxpayers' money — from plunging the nation into bankruptcy. If this coalition is actually broken up, the nation will suffer, and confidence in the value of the dollar will drop considerably everywhere.

The Democratic political leaders, in their desperation to win the fight, adopted bolder measures than ever before. Perhaps the most significant comment came in a remarkable editorial Tuesday in The New York Times, which supported the Kennedy ticket in the last campaign. Under the caption "Lowest Denominator," the editorial said:

"As the fight over the Rules Committee — which reaches its climax today — amply shows, President Kennedy and his administration are fully aware of the need to maintain as close and favorable a connection as possible between the White House and the Congress. But even the most desperate exigencies of the legislative situation do not excuse the political depths to which the new administration subjected itself night before last in doing obeisance to the prospective chairman of the House Committee on Education and Labor, Representative Adam Clayton Powell of New York.

"Mr. Powell's eight House terms have been distinguished for nothing except their unusually high rate of absenteeism. When he votes, he votes on the 'liberal' side, but despite his extravagant oratory, Mr. Powell has no clear record of legislative achievement; and it is recognized, as one of his colleagues says, that 'he hardly ever does any committee work.' Yet through the inexorable law of seniority this Congressman who is still under indictment for evasion of federal income taxes is about to become chairman of a major House committee through which some of the administration's most important domestic bills will pass.

"This is of course the principal reason—but it is an insufficient reason—why President Kennedy addressed to Mr. Powell a telegram describing how 'Adam and I have worked together and campaigned together since we entered Congress in 1947.' It is of course the reason—but a poor reason—why Secretaries Ribicoff and Goldberg, the two members of President Kennedy's Cabinet whose departments are most likely to be affected by Mr. Powell's committee, came up from Washington in these hectic early days just to honor the Powell-glorification dinner with their presence, and to make their hollow speeches.

"To make a hero out of Adam Clayton Powell as did the President and his aides on Sunday night is to reduce politics to the lowest common denominator, an action entirely unworthy of the high principles and the inspiring projects of the Kennedy administration."

Everybody knows what's back of all this. The Negro vote is important to the Kennedy administration in the next election—it helped immeasurably in carrying the electoral vote of the big states last November. The average Negro voter doesn't analyze things as does The New York Times, but is inclined to feel that anyone who is anti-Powell is bad and anyone who is pro-Powell deserves support. This is the thing that's called "politics" as practiced by the so-called "liberals," whose motto in the House battle seems to have been that "the end justifies the means."

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

INSIDE BOOKS—Now that the Eisenhower administration is out, look for a spate of biographical books dealing with some of the "inside stuff" of the eight Republican years in the White House.

President Eisenhower, "I myself, intends to write. He had a great success with "Crusade in Europe," a chronicle of his activities as Allied commander in Europe during World War II. He intends to write special articles for magazines, primarily to keep the public informed on his views of Kennedy administration activities. He may even write another book—it would be a sure-fire best seller.

Former Secretary of State Christian Herter would also like to write his memoirs if he can figure out a way to tell at least some of the truth without appearing to jeopardize foreign policy or injure world leaders still alive and in power. Former Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield already has written his book, on accomplishments in his department during his eight years in office. Other Cabinet and military leaders are being approached by publishers.

Lowering The Blood's Cholesterol Level

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The relationship between hardening of the arteries and fat in the diet has done more to popularize the blood cholesterol than to prevent arteriosclerosis. Cholesterol is the fatty substance that gets trapped in the walls of the arteries and initiates the hardening process. Half of it comes from food and the rest is manufactured by the body.

The blood cholesterol is high in a large percentage of victims of heart attacks, strokes, and other conditions caused by hardening of the arteries. This association has convinced many physicians of the desirability of reducing the level, especially in persons who have coronary heart trouble or are likely candidates for the condition in the future.

We have several good ways to reduce blood cholesterol but there is no evidence that improvement in the heart or blood vessels occurs after the level is reduced. There is more to hardening of the arteries, strokes, and heart attacks than the fat in the diet and blood cholesterol. MER-29 is one of the latest and most effective cholesterol lowering agents. Its side effects are few and mild.

But the action of MER-29 has physicians puzzled. Some of the cholesterol disappears from the blood (25 per cent) but in so doing leaves a related chemical, 24-dehydro-cholesterol. This substance is the precursor of cholesterol; it is the chemical that turns into cholesterol.

But we do not know what 24-dehydrocholesterol does to the body. Does it cause hardening of the arteries? Will it harm the liver? Only time will tell whether it is safe for continuous usage. This is why some authorities consider it an experimental product.

TOMORROW: Foot care.

ORANGE BINGES

G. P. writes: I get home from work at 10 p. m. and look at TV until midnight. During this time I eat one dozen oranges. Will this hurt my teeth or any other part of my body?

REPLY
No, but brush your teeth before you go to bed. Some people have peculiar reactions to large amounts of citrus fruit but if you are not bothered, there is no harm in the practice.

DISEASED TISSUE

H. B. writes: What is done in the operation for bronchiectasis?

REPLY
The diseased area of the lung is removed. The operation is most successful when the infected and dilated bronchi are localized in one or two areas.

TV RAYS

M. T. writes: Does TV throw off harmful rays?

REPLY
Gamma rays are given off but the amount is so small it can be disregarded.

SOUR APPLICATION

A. E. D. writes: I want to try applying vinegar to the surface veins on my legs. Will it do any harm?

REPLY
No, nor any good.

POINTED NOSE

M. S. writes: To settle an argument, does the nose of an old person become pointed as he nears the end?

REPLY
Not necessarily. Some elderly persons lose the fatty and other supportive tissues beneath the skin, making bones and cartilage more prominent.

To the limit of space questions pertinent to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Fireplace Ham Supper

NEW YORK (UPI) — Old-fashioned open hearth cooking can be done in your living room fireplace the modern way, with the main course cooked in individual foil packages.

Fireplace ham supper should be put on to cook half an hour after the fire is started. At least 3 hours before mealtime, cut three 1/2-inch thick slices of hickory-smoked canned ham into bite-sized pieces. Marinate ham in 1/2 cup of sherry, along with 1 cup of fresh blueberries (or 1/2 package of frozen berries, thawed and drained) and one 13 1/2-ounce can of pineapple chunks, drained.

Cut 6 double-thick, 14-inch squares of heavy-duty aluminum foil. Drain ham and fruit, reserving sherry. Divide ham and fruit into squares, add 1 canned into sealed packages, and use drained sweet potato to each fire-place tongs to place them on. Sprinkle lightly with brown sugar, glowing coals. Cook about 30 minutes using 1/4 cup in all, and spoon autes, or until heated through.

Tasty Beef And Cheese Sandwich

For an easy-on-the-cook lunch or supper, sandwiches are always popular. They only take minutes to prepare. But there's such a difference in sandwiches! You can follow the natural habit of fixing only a few varieties, or you can use your imagination and treat your family to something surprisingly different.

Beef Rye Sandwich Specialty fills this need for a new dish that is both appetizing and speedy to prepare. Ground beef is combined with grated cheese and onions and spread on toasted rye bread. The open face sandwiches are broiled 5 to 7 minutes, about 3 inches from the heat.

This sandwich variation is perfect for quickie lunches or Sunday night suppers. You often have the ingredients on hand, so you can prepare this dish on the spur of the moment. Other breads can be easily substituted.

Beef Rye Sandwich Specialty
1 pound ground beef
1/2 cup grated American cheese
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons thinly sliced green onions or chopped onion
5 to 7 slices rye bread
Mix ground beef, cheese, salt, pepper and onion. Toast rye bread slices on both sides. Spread meat mixture 1/4 inch thick, evenly, on toasted bread. Broil about 3 inches from the heat until browned, 5 to 7 minutes. 5 to 7 sandwiches.

Arms need softening massage and firming exercise to look smooth and lovely.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Arms Like Hands Need Careful Care

What one word best describes the way your arms look? Are they soft or rough? Smooth or flabby? Thin, heavy, or just right?

Lovely skin is the result of soap-and-water care and water care and massage with cream or lotion. Arms need this softening touch just as much as hands do. Take a brush to your elbows to prevent flaky skin and roughness. For a really satiny look, massage them in a paste made of thick soapsuds mixed with a few drops of salad oil. Rub it in, then scrub with a soft body brush.

Massage is softening; exercise is firming. Without exercise, arms tend to become flabby. All active sports are good for toning the muscles, but with summer at an end you're not so likely to have opportunity for such treatment. This will help: Stand tall, hands at sides with fists clenched. Stiffen your arms and wave them up and down. Keep the arms taut as you do 50 ups, 50 downs.

To reduce over-large arms, try this: Lie on your back on the floor with your elbows bent and your finger tips resting on your shoulders. Raise your elbows up until they touch in front of your face. Now, slap the upper arm down on the floor. Be sure to keep the muscles relaxed as you slap, and turn your arms slightly so that all areas come in for their share of exercise. A hundred times a day is your repeat.

The exercise above takes off the inches. This one keeps muscles sagging: Sit with your arms stretched to the sides, at shoulder level. Hold a small object in each hand, as you de-ling, bottled. The sweet-sour scribe circles— clockwise and dressing of pineapple juice, wine vinegar, herbs and spices is es-arms. Do this 25 times in each pecially good with fruit salad and as a marinade for meats, poultry and seafood.

If your arms have too little, not too much girth, here is a rounding-out exercise: Stand with your feet together. Facing a wall and about an arm's length from it. Rest the hands on the wall so that the fingers point toward each other. Now, bend your elbows very slowly until your chin just touches the wall. Hold

Brains And Noodles Offer Adventure In Cooking

Anyone who enjoys cooking is always looking for new recipes. While a new way of preparing familiar food is very welcome, a recipe for cooking a food you've never tried before is a real find.

Creole Brains with Noodles is one of these unusual dishes. Brains are much like sweetbreads in tenderness and texture. Brains and sweetbreads require the same preliminary preparation and are cooked and served in the same ways. Both should be used soon after purchasing.

A little vinegar or lemon juice and salt in the water will keep them white and make them more firm.

In addition to being a delicacy, brains are high in food value. They are a good source of iron, of the B vitamins particularly thiamine and niacin, and contribute some vitamin C.

Creole Brains With Noodles

1 pound brains
1 quart water
1 tablespoon vinegar

1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 tablespoons sliced green onions
1 tablespoon flour
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
1/4 cup water
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
4 ounces noodles, cooked

Wash brains and remove membrane. Simmer brains 20 minutes in water to which vinegar and 1 teaspoon salt have been added. Drain, separate into pieces. Melt butter or margarine. Cook onions in butter or margarine about 3 minutes. Stir in flour. Add tomato sauce, water, 1/4 teaspoon salt and pepper. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add brains and parsley and heat thoroughly. Serve on hot noodles. Yield: 4 to 5 servings.

The fruit of several species of pepper are called cubers. The cuber is cultivated in Java and Sumatra.

Veal Soup

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 pounds boned veal cut in 1-inch cubes
1 teaspoon monosodium glutamate
2 beef bouillon cubes
1 quart boiling water
1 large onion, sliced
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon paprika
2 cups sliced carrots
4-ounce can sliced mushrooms

Melt butter or margarine; add veal and monosodium glutamate. Saute until brown. Dissolve bouillon cubes in boiling water; add to veal, along with onions, salt, pepper and paprika. Simmer covered 45 minutes. Add carrots and mushrooms with liquid. Simmer until carrots are tender. Keep hot until serving time. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Breakfast Short Cut

When preparing large breakfasts, try this handy time saver. When cooking bacon for a large group, place the bacon on a rack in an open roasting pan and bake it in a hot oven (400°F.) for 20 to 25 minutes.

WIFE PRESERVERS

Scuffed toes on leather shoes can be helped greatly with an application of petroleum jelly.

You can launder leather gloves (except chamois and doeskin) by washing them on your hands in cool suds, rolling them off, rinsing and squeezing dry. Do not wash gloves that have been dry cleaned.

When ironing, always detour around zippers, buttons, hooks and eyes, in order not to scratch the iron's plate.

Egg Nog Makes Tasty Cup Cakes

When you can bake tender, light cupcakes that are as good the second day as they were an hour after they were removed from the oven, then you really have a fine dessert.

That's the way it is with these egg nog cupcakes. Rich, dairy egg nog is the liquid ingredient that gives tenderness to the simple two-egg cake batter.

Small muffin pans are used, yielding dainty little refreshments to serve with fruit punch or coffee.

Egg Nog Cupcakes

(24 small cakes)

1/2 cup butter
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
2 1/4 cups sifted cake flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups egg nog
1 teaspoon rum flavoring

Cream butter; gradually add sugar and beat until light and fluffy. Beat in eggs one at a time. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with egg nog and rum flavoring, mixing well after each addition. Place 2 1/2-inch paper baking cup in muffin pans; fill 1/2 full with batter. Bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes.

Frost cakes with butter-confectioners' sugar icing and sprinkle tops with finely chopped nuts.

Ice Cream Drinks For Children's Parties

Pretty enough for a small party punch bowl at any midwinter party are these frothy milk and ice cream drinks.

There's almost no limit to the flavor changes you can make with different kinds of fruit juice, ice cream or sherbert. For a truly tart refresher, choose a tangy sherbert as the base. If you want a thicker, creamier drink, use ice cream.

Cranberry Cooler

(Six tall glasses)

1 quart milk
1 cup cranberry juice
1/2 cup sugar
1 pint vanilla ice cream

Combine ingredients and whip until ice cream is blended. Use your electric blender, if you have one. Serve immediately.

Lemon Mint Eggnog

(Eight cups)

4 cups milk
4 eggs, separated
1/4 cup sugar
1/2 cup crushed mints
1 pint lemon sherbert

Add mints to cold milk and let stand until dissolved. Beat egg whites until stiff; gradually beat in sugar, continuing to beat. Beat egg yolks until light. Fold whites into yolks thoroughly. Gradually pour into milk mixture, folding as you pour. Add lemon sherbert and whip until fluffy. Fill punch cups.

Starchy

NEW YORK (UPI) — Here's how to wash starch from the sole place of a hot iron: rub a damp cloth with plenty of soap and spread it over several layers of paper; run the iron over this to loosen and rub off the starch. If it clings, repeat with a clean piece of cloth, also soaped. Then press over a clean, damp cloth and the iron will glide smoothly again.

Congressional Viewpoint

by Sen. John M. Butler

WASHINGTON — In his message to the joint session of Congress today, the President will undoubtedly concern himself with the more dramatic issues that fill the front pages and television news programs: Unemployment, inflation and taxes. But I hope that the President will examine in the near future a less dramatic but far reaching problem: the increasing concentration of government defense work on the West Coast and particularly in California.

One state, California, presently holds 26 per cent of all military prime contracts for procurement and 31 per cent of all military prime contracts for research and development. This concentration means that investors, manufacturers, scientists, inventors and productive minds in the country—tend to gravitate to the Pacific Coast and away from other sections of the country, including Maryland.

It would seem that the Free State's proven performance and unchallenged capabilities are not obvious to certain officials in the Defense Department responsible for the granting of Government contracts. By concentrating missile and military contracts in California, the Defense Department seriously jeopardizes the defense production capacity of the Nation. In Maryland, Martin at Middle River and Fairchild at Hagerstown have been forced to make cutbacks because a few generals and admirals have favored the West Coast. Granted its weather is wonderful, California's moonbeams and sunshine are not sufficient unto themselves to account for the garnering of nearly 1/3 of all government procurement contracts.

The public is entitled to know why the oft-stated policy of plant dispersal, especially in this Atomic Age, is being ignored. The public should also be told whether retired officers of the Army, Navy and Air Force now working for California aircraft and missile concerns are capitalizing upon past military connections and friendships to influence contract awards.

If this concentration is allowed

Using Leftover Ham

Leftover ham can be cubed and creamed, then served over cornbread, shortcake, baked sweet or Irish potatoes.

Grind leftover ham and combine with bread crumbs, seasonings and milk, and bake as a ham loaf or individually in custard cups as timbales.

Ham, cubed or julienne, makes a delicious salad when combined with greens or macaroni, celery and pickles, or a combination of fresh or chilled cooked vegetables.

Lesson For Dad

Dad usually prides himself on being the master carver. However, does he keep in mind the facts that all meats are cut across the grain except steak?

Try Beef Royale Blade Steak For Dinner

That REAL Home-Made Flavor

Mrs Weiss

PURE EGG NOODLES

Beef Blade Steak Royale will cook any dinner menu with its tender, place it on a serving platter topped with mushrooms, peas and smoked sausage. It's a royal main dish for good news for homemakers watching their meat budgets too. A beef arm or blade steak has that delicious beef flavor, yet is high on the list of economy cuts. Another big advantage is the abundant supply of beef on the market right now. It's estimated to hit an all time high during the next few months. This means that you'll find beef a good buy in your market.

An arm or blade steak should yield 4 to 6 servings. These cuts are called "less tender" and are best cooked by braising. This moist-heat method of cooking allows the seasonings to blend deliciously with the flavor of the beef.

The peas and smoked sausage are added near the end of the cooking time. When the meat is tender, place it on a serving platter topped with mushrooms, peas and smoked sausage. It's a royal main dish for good news for homemakers watching their meat budgets too.

Beef Blade Steak Royale

1 beef arm or blade steak, cut ¾ inch thick
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed mushroom soup
½ cup water
¼ teaspoon marjoram
1 package (10 ounces) frozen peas
3 smoked sausage links, cut in ½-inch slices

Brown steak in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Mix mushroom soup, water and marjoram. Add to browned steak. Cover tightly and simmer 1 hour and 10 minutes. Add peas and cook 10 minutes. Add sausage slices and continue cooking 10 minutes longer or until meat is tender and peas are done. 4 to 6 servings.

Season Meat Cuts      Cooking Frozen Roasts      Lard For Successful Pies

Roasts may be seasoned before, during or after cooking. However, chops and steaks should be seasoned after browning. In preparing chops or steaks, salting will tend to draw out some of the juices, thereby retarding the browning process.

Frozen roasts should be cooked in the same manner as fresh roasts: 300° F. for fresh beef, veal and lamb, and 350° F. for fresh pork. However, frozen roasts require approximately ½ to ¾ as long for cooking as thawed roasts.

The success of a pie begins with a tender, flaky crust. The shortening gives pie crust these desired qualities. Since lard has the greatest shortening power of any plastic fat, it should be the logical choice for fine pastry.

$1,500 Sought For Breaking Of Gas Line

Columbia Gas of Maryland, Inc., has filed a $1,500 damage suit in Allegany County Circuit Court against the C. A. Liller Coal Company, Cresaptown, and the Hout Construction Company, Shade's Lane.

The suit, which was filed by Attorney James Alfred Avirett, arose from the breaking of a two-inch gas line on the old Tram Road leading into Barton on or about October 6, 1958.

In the declaration, it is stated that employees of the Hout Construction Company, under the supervision and direction of C. A. Liller, were engaged in grading and cutting a ditch along the old Tram Road. It is charged that the operator of the grader cut a ditch so deep that the blade tore up the two-inch gas line.

As a result gas service to Barton was interrupted while the pipeline was repaired. The gas company also was required to restore service to all homes where the gas had been cut off. It was charged that the damage was the result of the negligence and carelessness of the grader operator.

The plaintiff listed itemized losses of $1,348.03. Included was $22.36 for materials, $1,158.10 for labor, $151.35 in miscellaneous costs and $16.22 for gas lost.

Civil Service Hearing Deferred

The scheduled Allegany County Civil Service Commission hearing for Joseph I. O'Rourke, Water-cliffe Street, Lonaconing, was postponed last night until 7:30 p.m. next Tuesday at the Court House.

Jack I. Mullen, Mr. O'Rourke's attorney, requested the continuance. The Lonaconing man was discharged December 27 from his job as an orderly at the County Infirmary.

Rules Vote Explained By Rep. Mathias

Rep. Charles McC. Mathias Jr., (R-Md. 6th), in a statement regarding his vote supporting the Kennedy administration on enlarging the Rules Committee explained that in his opinion the vote was not a test between conservative and radical principles in the 87th Congress but a procedural question within the House.

He also said that during his campaign last fall he had proposed that the committee be broadened in its representation, and that in voting he was keeping a campaign pledge.

Rep. Mathias said he cast his vote in the interest of a more representative system of conducting the business of the House and that "this vote does not fore-shadow my position on any of the substantive questions which the 87th Congress will have to decide. The issues can now be settled on their merits, with credit or blame falling where it should."

In concluding his statement, Mr. Mathias said, "If this resolution results in bringing to the House issues that might not otherwise have come to a vote on the floor, I shall be glad to stand up and be counted in either case I can say that I have honestly sought to fulfill my pledge to the people of the Sixth Congressional District of Maryland."

Three Companies Check Flue Fire

Three volunteer fire companies responded to a flue fire last night in a home in Lonaconing.

Volunteers of Lonaconing were first on the scene, and later firefighters of Barton and Midland responded but returned to their respective community when it was learned the fire was not serious.

The fire was confined to the side of the double house occupied by Mrs. Harry Lease on Railroad Street. There was considerable smoke and water damage to the interior of her home.

Her son, Earl, and his family live on the other side of the frame dwelling. The call was received at 8:15 p.m.

To Meet On Monday

The Allegany County Council of PTA will meet Monday at 8 p.m. at Cresaptown School.

Homer Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel for the Allegany County Board of Education, will speak on special education in Allegany County as it applies to gifted children and to slow learners.

Water Tank Paint Job Begins Here

Three city water tanks will be put in top condition under a contract which began here Wednesday, according to Water Commissioner G. Ray Light.

The work of cleaning, patching and painting the Ridgedale, Fort Hill and Braddock Road water tanks is being done by the Valley Structural Painters of Harrisonburg, Va., under a $4,360 contract.

The fourth tank in the city limits, at North End, was painted by the same firm late last fall.

Workers began on the interior of the Ridgedale tank Wednesday after city crews drained the tank.

Water pressure will be maintained in the area served by the tank connecting the pump used to lift water into the tank to water lines.

The Ridgedale, Fort Hill and Braddock tanks were last painted in 1956 by the Dixie Tank and Bridge Company of Memphis.

Deer Committee Begins Activity

Allegany County's farmers' deer study committee had its first meeting Tuesday night in the office of County Agent Joseph M. Steger at the Court House and carried on a three-hour discussion of the damage caused to county orchards and farms by deer.

The committee will have its second meeting at 7:30 p.m. next Tuesday in Mr. Steger's office.

All eight committee members attended the session which also was attended by Theodore Thoeing of Mt. Savage, who has been conducting a deer damage study for the State Department of Research and Education in four Western Maryland counties.

The committee members are Theodore Stegmaier, Christie Road, and Floyd Buser, Oliver Belt Road, joint chairmen; Wilbert R. Paul, Mt. Savage; Earl F. Stonestreet, RFD 2, Flintstone; D. T. Puffinberger, Little Orleans; Ralph L. Rader, Oldtown; James R. Twigg, Walnut Ridge; and John Beerman, Mexico Farms.

All committee members again urged all orchardists and farmers to contact the committee member living nearest them to give their views on the deer question.

Russell McBee Is Postmaster In Westernport

Russell W. McBee, 112 Roosevelt Street, Westernport, assumed his duties as acting postmaster of Westernport yesterday, succeeding Thomas V. McGuire, retired.

Mr. McBee was employed in the post office as a postal clerk from September 1946 until March 1958, when he was named assistant to the postmaster.

A lifelong resident of Westernport, Mr. McBee is a graduate of Bruce High School, class of 1937. He enlisted in the Army in April 1941 and served four and a half years in the 29th and 87th infantry divisions. He spent three years in the European Theatre of Operations.

Actively engaged in veterans and civic affairs, Mr. McBee is a past commander of the Legion post in Westernport and a member of the board of the Westernport branch, Allegany County Chapter American Red Cross. He is now vice commander of the American Legion Post, and for the past five years has been blood donor chairman for Mountain District American Legion. For the last four years he has served as treasurer of Cub Scout Pack 28, Westernport. He is a member of St. Peter's Catholic Church and is active in numerous community affairs. He is an active Democrat.

Mr. McBee took his oath of office as acting postmaster yesterday from Richard M. Johnson, district office inspector, and the records were transferred. His commission is dated February 1, since Mr. McGuire's resignation became effective January 31.

The Westernport Post Office is rated as a second class station and there are eight employees, including four carriers, two clerks, a custodian and Mr. McBee.

Mr. McBee is married and has four children, two girls attending Bruce High School, and two boys attending Westernport Elementary.

Bill Would End Continued Transfer Of Race Meets

Major Tracks May Purchase Closed Plants

State Legislation Is Reported Ready For Introduction

By GEORGE BOWEN

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Legislation to pave the way for Maryland's mile horse racing tracks to have 60 days apiece was ready Thursday for introduction.

However, the extra 20 days at Bowie, Pimlico and Laurel would have to come through the purchase and closing of other tracks in the state.

The proposed bill resulting from a committee study last summer specified that the maximum number of daily horse racing programs in the state should remain at 276.

Close Smaller Tracks

It visualized that some smaller tracks would be closed and set up provisions for transfer of the days.

If the buyer of a track already was the owner of one of the three mile plants, all three would have to participate in the purchase and divide the days.

The study committee's bill also would put an end to continued transfer of a race meeting on the grounds of an emergency.

If a track asked for such a transfer two years in a row, its days would revert to the State for reassignment to other tracks.

The Cumberland Fair transferred both its 1959 and 1960 meetings to Hagerstown and Timonium under the emergency clause.

Change In Personnel

A change in personnel makeup of the racing commission also is proposed. The present secretary would be replaced by an executive director who would see that orders of the commission are implemented.

Among such orders foreseen by the bill is for tracks to make plant improvements or lose their license.

The bill also offers legal language to back up the commission if it wants to approve night thoroughbred racing. It defines the race "days" as 24 hours.

Baltimore Raceway, a night harness track, has bought Bel Air and would like to close that plant to operate 36 nights of thoroughbred racing.

Other Features

Other major features of the pending bill are:

1. Establishment of a fund of $600,000 to provide purses for horses bred in Maryland. The State and tracks would give up a third of their breakage money to build the fund.

2. Days of racing cancelled because of weather or other reasons would have to be made up in the same calendar or forfeited.

3. Grant $250,000 a year to the State Fair Board.

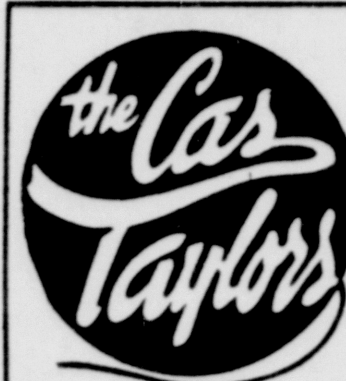

4. Specifically ban off track betting.

5. Repeat 12 days of racing for the Pocomoke Fair which have never been used.

To Tutor Hitters

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—For the third straight year Frank (Lefty) O'Doul will teach San Francisco's Giants how to swing a bat.

Owner Horace Stoneham announced O'Doul would be on hand when the Giants open their Phoenix, Ariz., training camp Feb. 26.

Why do so many, many people drop in regularly at The Cas Taylors? Well, naturally, each individual has his own reasons for liking a place... but among the many varied reasons The Cas Taylors' is so well liked are these:

A great many people enjoy our delicious food whether it be a snack or a full course meal... many enjoy not only our superbly mixed drinks but also the friendly, courteous service provided by Pat and Kel and The Cas'... still more are delighted with the comfortable, pleasant atmosphere—clean, neat, and attractive, just right and not too fancy... many come to watch TV—black and white and color, too. These are but a few of the reasons why so many enjoy The Cas Taylors'. We might add, too, the fact that many people stop regularly for our carry-out food and package liquor service.

You, of course, will have your own reason for liking The Cas Taylors' for once you stop in we think you will find it a regular habit. You'll make it at the corner of N. Mechanic and Valley Streets!

seventh and final game of the series earned the Pirates their first world championship in 35 years. Face worked in all four of the Pirates' World Series victories, gaining credit for three saves. (AP Photofax)

ACC Leader To Get First Round Bye In Tourney For Title

DURHAM, N. C. (AP)—The team finishing first in the Atlantic Coast Conference regular season basketball race will receive a first round bye when the championship tournament of the ACC starts March 2 at Raleigh.

The withdrawal of the University of North Carolina from the tournament because of NCAA probation barring it from championship play, brought about a revamped ACC tournament schedule.

The conference tournament determines the league title and normally sends the winner into NCAA play. Officials of North Carolina, unable to compete for the national crown in four years ago, said they did not believe it was fair to other ACC teams to have their probation shackled team play in the conference tourney and possible eliminate an eligible team from going on to the NCAA meeting.

Hedgesville Wins Over Oldtown In Overtime, 64-62

A field goal by Miller with 20 seconds to play gave Hedgesville high's cagers a 64-62 overtime victory over Oldtown High last night on the Oldtown court.

The win gave Hedgesville a sweep of the series, the West Virginians having won the opener, 50-42, at Hedgesville on December 6.

The two teams battled nip-and-tuck in a game which saw the score tied eight times at 6, 11, 47, 49, 55, 57, 58 and 62. Oldtown's Eddie Wolfe sank a foul with seconds remaining in the regulation game to knot the score at 58-all and send the contest into overtime.

Albright was the game's high scorer for Hedgesville with 24 points. Miller added 15 for the winners. Charles Youngblood tallied 23 points for Oldtown which suffered its ninth loss in 14 games. The lineups:

Sunday School League Schedule Is Changed

Two changes were announced last night in Saturday's Sunday School Basketball League schedule at the Central YMCA. The 1:50 game between Centre Street Methodist and Emmanuel Methodist has been changed to 4:35 p.m. The Park Place Methodist Presbyterian game, originally set for 4:35, will get under way at 1:50 p.m.

Ingemar Disagrees That Sonny Liston Is No. 1 Contender

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Ingemar Johansson said Thursday Ring Magazine used "bad arithmetic" in naming Sonny Liston as the No. 1 contender for Floyd Patterson's heavyweight boxing crown.

"I am the one who is fighting Patterson for the title, not Liston," Ingemar said. "Maybe they (Ring) don't count so good."

If he regains his title, Johansson said, he will fight Liston if Sonny still is regarded as the No. 1 challenger.

Ingemar worked behind closed doors Thursday in the first of two secret sessions he will hold each week up to March 13, when he meets Patterson in the Miami Beach Convention Hall.

Dumas To Play With San Diego

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The American Football League's San Diego Chargers said Thursday that Charles Dumas, former Olympic games high-jump champion, has signed up to play football.

"He could turn out to be something special," said Sid Gilman, the Chargers' manager-coach, even though his football experience is limited to two high school junior varsity games.

Bill Skowron Fails To Sign With Yankees

Sluggish Is Unable To Reach Agreement

MEADVILLE, Pa. (UPI)—Bill (Moose) Skowron, New York Yankee first baseman, said Thursday he and General Manager Roy Hamey could not reach agreement on a 1961 contract after a lengthy discussion Wednesday in New York.

Skowron, a representative of the Hornell Packing Co. in the off season, said he and Hamey discussed the contract for some time but to no avail. Asked if he was going to the Yankees' spring training camp whether he had a 1961 contract or not, Skowron said: "My wife and I are going to go to Miami for two weeks on a vacation. At the end of that time I will return home and see what happens."

Malkmus In Fold

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Utility infielder Bobby Malkmus of Irvington, N.J., signed his 1961 contract with the Philadelphia Phillies Thursday. Malkmus, drafted after he hit .300 for Denver in 1959, batted .211 for the Phillies in 1960.

The Old Germans kept their record unblemished in the City Basketball League by rolling to their eighth consecutive victory over Wilson Hardware Company last night at Fort Hill High School by the score of 69-47.

It marked the second time the Old Gee's had beaten the defending champions this season.

After the score was deadlocked four times in the opening period Wilson's took the lead at 16-14 and held it until Gary Keedy's basket put the Old Germans ahead to stay at 25-24 with 2:10 remaining in the second period. The score was 28-25 at halftime and 50-37 at the end of the third period.

Don Moran headed the winners with 20 points. Gary Keedy collected 17, Phil Smith 15 and Dick Niland 10. Gary Smith, Bob Pence and Bob Lacko scored 15, 14 and 12 tallies, respectively, for Wilson's.

The Forty & Eight Club and Boal's Funeral Home quint also won last night and went into a three-way tie with Wilson's for the runner-up spot, three games back of the leaders.

Boal's handed Roseland its eighth consecutive defeat, 80-68, while the Forty & Eight Club downed the Knights of Columbus, 68-60.

Bill Wright and Eddie Orndorff flattered in 22 points each and Foster collected 17 for Boal's. B. Lacy paced Roseland with 20 tallies.

"Pooch" Lewis' 23 points was high for the Forty & Eight quint.

Bob Skinner Comes To Terms; Others Ink 1961 Pacts

By United Press International
Second baseman Bill Mazeroski and little relief pitcher Elroy Face, two of the heroes in the 1960 World Series victory over the New York Yankees, signed their 1961 contracts with the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates Thursday, both for substantial increases in salary.

No details of the contracts for Mazeroski, whose dramatic home run in the seventh game gave the Pirates their first world championship in 35 years, and Face, who appeared in all four Pittsburgh victories in the seven-game series, were announced.

Mazeroski, who led National League second basemen in fielding with a .989 average, batted 273 in 151 regular season games. He hit 11 home runs and had 64 runs batted in. The 24-year-old infielder appeared in both All-Star games last year and went on to win a number of post-season awards.

Face, a 5-8, 155-pounder who while Paul "Bubbles" Thompson led the Casey's with 18 markers.

won 18 games and lost only 1 in 1959, was the workhorse of the Pittsburgh bullpen crew again in 1960. He appeared in 68 regular season games for a total of 115 innings and wound up with a 10-8 mark and a .290 earned run average. He, too, appeared in both All-Star games a year ago.

The two signings followed closely on the heels of Bob Skinner's capitulation to terms with the Pirates and gave the club 16 players under contract for the new season. Skinner, an outfielder, batted .273 in 1960 with 15 home runs. He saw action in both All-Star games but played in only the first and seventh World Series games. He sat the other five games out with a jammed thumb.

Many of the other major league clubs were as busy as the Pirates signing up players with the opening of spring training less than three weeks away.

Joe Cunningham, who has a lifetime National League batting average of .308, signed with the St. Louis Cardinals for about the same salary he received last year. The versatile outfielder-first baseman hit .280 in 1960 and is the 30th Cardinal to sign for the new season.

—The Kansas City A's corralled five players including highly regarded infielder Lou Klimchek, dubbed the "outstanding product of the A's farm system." Klimchek started the 1960 season with the A's and after suffering an injury was sent to Dallas of the American Association. He batted .300 with the A's and .270 with the A's. The others signed were pitchers Bill Kunkel, Ray Blumker and Joe Petrovic and outfielder Jay Hankins. The A's now have 17 signed players.

—The Yankees bagged two rookie pitchers and a bonus catcher who batted only .162 in his first season of pro ball. The pitchers were Jim Bronstad and Billy Short, both of whom appeared briefly with the Yanks in 1960, and the catcher was Alan Hall, who batted that weak .162 with Birmingham of the Eastern League. The three signings gave the American League champs 13 signed for 1961.

—Billy Klaus, a reserve infielder with the Baltimore Orioles a year ago, came to terms via telephone with the new Washington Senators. Klaus appeared in 46 games in 1960 and batted .209.

—The Chicago Cubs, bidding to become the first club with all players signed, got No. 38 when Wayne Carlander, a pitcher with a 2-6 record at Reno, Nev., last year, came to terms. Only players unsigned are pitcher Seth Mreohed (.29 in 1960) and catcher Cuno Barragan, the club's No. 1 draft choice who played at Sacramento in the Pacific Coast League.

Beall At Bruce Game Highlights Tonight's Cage Card

First Place Campers Play In Mt. Savage

Fr. Hill At Valley,
LaSalle At Bayard
Lions Test Vikings

Leaders of two different leagues will tangle tonight when Beall High Schools Mountaineers do battle with the Bruce High School Bulldogs in the W.M.I. League feature attraction, at Westernport.

Coach Leonard Ritchie's Bruce quint is tied with Allegany's Campers for first place at 4-1 as the second half of the schedule gets under way.

Beall High took over the lead in the Potomac Valley Conference on Wednesday night with a 7-1 record by spilling LaSalle at Frostburg by the score of 73-71. The Mountaineers are now one game off the pace in the W.M.I. loop with a 3-2 record and a third defeat would practically eliminate the Mountain City team from the championship race.

Bruce Won Opener
The Mountaineers dropped the first game of their series to Bruce on January 6 by the score of 54-52 at Frostburg. Beall's other league loss came at the hands of Allegany, 52-48. Fort Hill handed Bruce its lone league setback, 61-54.

Both Allegany and Fort Hill are slated to play league games away from home tonight. Mt. Savage High's Indians (1-4) will test the Campers while Valley High School (0-5) will host Fort Hill's Sentinels (3-2), tied with Beall for third place.

Allegany holds a 69-56 decision over Mt. Savage while Fort Hill whipped the Black Knights in their opening league engagement, 59-49.

Bayard Hosts LaSalle
LaSalle, which dropped from first place (4-1) to fourth after the setback at Frostburg, goes to Bayard tonight to tackle Bayard High School which has won only one game in six P.V.C. engagements.

The Explorers hold a 72-49 decision over the Grant Countians. Four more games remain on LaSalle's league schedule—one each with Bayard, Ridgeley, Fort Ashby and Beall.

Vikings At Piedmont
Piedmont is hopeful of avenging a 55-44 setback when it tackles the Petersburg High Vikings (10-2) tonight at Piedmont. The Lions are out of the running for the title with a 5-6 record but they could hurt the Vikings who hold second place in the championship race.

In other P. V. C. action, Paw Paw is at Capon Bridge, Fort Ashby at Elk Garden, Keyser at Ridgeley, Circleville at Mathias, Moorefield at Romney and Wardensville at the West Virginia School for the Deaf.

Elk Garden is still in the running for the title with a 9-2 record while Fort Ashby and Moorefield both own 8-3 records.

Parsons Faces Southern
Southern's Highlanders of Oakland windup their series with Parsons on the Panthers' court in Tucker county tonight while Hyndman High School hosts Everett-Southern in a Bedford County League contest at Hyndman.

South Hagerstown's Rebels (14-1) invade Westminster and Mel Henry's North Hagerstown Hubs (6-7) play at Frederick in CVAL battles. Hancock (10-2) is at Hedgesville for a Friday night engagement.

Nine Orioles To Train Early
Several Players Underwent Surgery

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles announced Thursday that nine of their players would begin spring training a week early.

Four of the selected players have been under medical treatment since the end of last year's season, and manager Paul Richards said he wanted to check their form.

Another who will attend the special training session is outfielder Earl Robinson, a new member of the Birds.

In addition to Robinson, the early training was ordered for Barry Shetrone, Jim Gentile, Milt Pappas, Dave Nicholson, Jerry Walker, Bob Saverine, Pete Ward and Gene Stephens.

Gentile, Ward and Stephens underwent surgery after last season, and Shetrone missed much of last season because of a shoulder injury.

The early season will begin Feb. 16. Oriole pitchers and catchers will begin spring training Feb. 21, and the rest of the team will begin March 1.

Walls Inks Pact

Park Place, Kingsley Win In SS League

Tighten American Division Race

Park Place and Kingsley Methodist registered victories last night in the Central YMCA Sunday School Basketball League to tighten the American Division race in the 31-team circuit.

Park Place edged Emmanuel Episcopal in the second game of the doubleheader on the Central YMCA floor to slip into a tie for second place in the division. The score was 35 to 33.

The win was the 11th in 12 games for Park Place and knotted the Methodist team with First Presbyterian for the runner-up spot behind Grace Baptist (12-0).

The victors rallied in the fourth quarter to overcome a 29-26 Episcopal lead, winning the game at the foul line. Both teams tallied 14 field goals, but Park Place had a 7-5 edge in fouls.

Ted Bennett sparked the Park Place attack with seven goals and 17 points. Jimmy Diamond was high for Emmanuel Episcopal with 13 markers.

In the opener of the American Division twin bill, Kingsley Methodist defeated Emmanuel Methodist 32-28, to grab fourth place in the circuit with a 10-2 mark. The loss was the ninth in 12 games for Emmanuel Methodist.

Kingsley hopped out in front with a second quarter spurt after the two teams battled to an 8-8 tie in the first period. The winners led 22-12 at halftime and 27-18 at the close of the third quarter.

Tom Hamilton scored 16 points for Kingsley, including 6-7 in free throws. Barnstricker was high for Emmanuel Methodist with 11 points.

Bob Young, secretary of the Sunday School league also announced last night that three postponed games in the American Division have been reset for Monday, February 20. They are LaSalle Methodist vs. Melvin Methodist and Emmanuel Methodist vs. St. Luke's, postponed from January 19; and McKendree Methodist vs. Kingsley Methodist, from January 21. The lineups:

Don January's $50,000 Ace Is Feature At Palm Springs

Al Mengert Leader With 133; Rosburg, And Wall Post 134s

By HAL WOOD

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI)—Long shot Al Mengert broke out of the pack Thursday to grab the second-day lead in the Palm Springs Golf Classic, but Don January stole the thunder when he won $50,000 with his first-ever hole in one.

The second day developments:—Mengert, who holds club pro jobs in St. Louis in the summer and Phoenix in the winter, fired a six-under par 65 at the Thunderbird course to go with a first round 68 at Indian Wells. He has a 133 total.

Two Tie For Second
—Bob Rosburg, Wednesday's co-leader with five others, went into a tie for second place this time with Art Wall, each with 134.

—January, from Dallas, Tex., got his ace on the 148-yard 15th hole at Indian Wells. He shot a 65 for the round to go with his opening 76 for a 141 score.

—There was another hole in one, this time by amateur Sam Tobias, Bakersfield, Calif. A 17-handicapper, Tobias ace the 217-yard 12th hole at Eldorado using a driver. He received a $1,000 electric car as a prize. His co-partner was Pete Mazur, of Montauk Point, N. Y.

—George Bayer had another one of his hot rounds and fired an eight-under par 63 at Thunderbird, best score of the tournament. That gave him a two-day total of 135 and tied him with Fred Hawkins, Jay Hebert and Dave Marr, the latter a first-day co-leader.

First day co-leaders Ken Venturi, Palo Alto, and Charlie Sifford, Los Angeles, each took 71 for 136. That tied them with Eric Monti, Los Angeles, and Don Whitte, Borrego Springs, Calif.

Palmer Posts 137
Defending champion Arnold Palmer, who also holds the National Open and Masters championship, was well in contention with rounds of 69-68—137. Tied with him were Billy Casper, Apple Valley, Calif.; Jerry Pittman, Tulsa, Okla., and Doug Higgins, Fort Worth, Tex.

But anything the rest of the field did was overshadowed by January's effort. He knocked a nine-iron into the cup on the par-3, 148-yard 15th hole at the Indian Wells course.

"It was a thrill you can't describe," he said later. Don, who had a bad round of 76 Wednesday, came back with a brilliant 65 Thursday on nines of 33-32.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

AXYDLBAAXR
LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Fighting Boy Wins Overbrook

BOWIE, Md. Feb. 2 (AP)—Bidden by Arthur Chambers, Bowie's leading jockey, Fighting Boy captured the $3,500 Overbrook Purse here today in galloping fashion.

The C. Eugene Howell color-bearer posted a $19.60 mutuel while scoring by five lengths over Gray Flash in the six-furlong feature.

The crowd braved 15-degree weather and included in the gathering of 6,313 fans were many who walked to the track after surviving a horrendous train wreck just three miles from Bowie.

Fighting Boy was the seventh winner of the meeting for Chambers and was the third saddled by James P. Simpson who was the leading trainer last fall at Pimlico.

Non-Support Bill Killed By W. Va. Senate

Would Raise Age From 16 To 18

By BILL BARRETT

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The first bill defeated in the 1960 session of the Legislature—a measure changing non-support laws—was killed in the Senate on a 25-6 vote Thursday.

The bill would have raised from 16 to 18 years the maximum age of a child for whom a husband would be held responsible under the non-support laws.

Opponents of the bill did not debate it publicly, but it was understood they generally thought it was not practical to enforce.

Public hearings by committees of both the Senate and House featured other activity in the Legislature. Temperance committees in both chambers heard the pros and cons of a proposed constitutional amendment calling for the sale of liquor-by-the-drink in the state.

Could Curb Growth

Judiciary committees in both chambers heard representatives of major utilities testify against a bill to change rate making procedures of the Public Service Commission.

They felt the propose change—extending from four to 11 months the period before they could put new rates into effect pending a PSC ruling—would curb their ability to attract new money for expansion projects. And this, they said, would also slow down the state's industrial development because it would keep them from enlarging their facilities to meet new requirements for service.

The Senate passed and sent to the House for concurrence a resolution adopting "West Virginia Hills" as an official state song. A similar resolution on the House agenda was held over for a day awaiting the Senate measure.

The House held over for another day action on a resolution seeking to have the Conservation Commission purchase the Mower-Lumber Co. logging railroad at Cass, Pocahontas County, as a tourist attraction. A similar resolution in the Senate was sent to the finance committee for study.

Time Runs Out

The House adopted and sent to the Senate for concurrence a resolution seeking to have Congress appropriate funds for construction of a West Fork River dam at Creston, Wirt County.
Tax department officials summoned by the House Finance Committee to explain the administration's income tax bill were unable to answer all questions of members in the allotted time. They will resume testimony at a Monday afternoon meeting.
House Speaker Julius Singleton said he did not think this would upset his plans to have the bill reported to the floor sometime next week. He hopes to have it ready for a final vote in the House by late next week or early the following week.

Both chambers will convene Friday morning and the House will set a precedent Monday by staging a night session. The move was made in order to give committee time to function Monday afternoon. Normally they would not meet on Monday.

3 New Revenue Bills Offered In W. Virginia

Two-Cent Soft Drink Tax Planned

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—

Three new revenue bills were introduced in the West Virginia Legislature Thursday, including a measure that would increase to 2 cents a bottle the soft drink tax.

Another bill, introduced by Sen. Jack Johnson, R-Mason, would extend the gross sales tax to sale of securities, at a rate of one-half of one per cent of the gross income of such brokers.

The proposed penny-a-bottle pop tax increase was introduced by Del. David Solomon, D-Monongalia, as a means of providing money to insure continuation of the statewide property reappraisal program.

The pop tax now brings in about $3.4 million a year for support of the West Virginia University Medical Center.

Money for the appraisal work was not allocated in the 1961-62 budget proposal submitted to the Legislature by the Board of Public Works. The fund for the program, which has been costing about $1.5 million a year, is now depleted.

Along the line of property appraisals, another new bill, introduced in the Senate, would set up a three-member state equalization board in a further move to equalize property assessments in the state and thus make more local money available for school purposes.

Dels. Cecil Mitchell, D-Mingo, and Charlie Gore, D-Logan, co-sponsored a bill to remove an exemption from consumer sales tax payments for businesses concerned with contracting, manufacturing or natural resource production.

Among others of a total of 32 bills introduced Thursday were measures to:

— Allow county school boards to use "emergency" teachers—those without college degrees—in a maximum of one out of every five teaching posts, by Dels. Deem, R-Ritchie, and Frazer, D-Nicholas.

— Make it a misdemeanor to use a credit card, such as for gasoline or other goods or services, belonging to someone else, by Del. Bedell, D-Kanawha, and Sen. Gainer, D-Nicholas.

— Make it tougher for fortune tellers to operate by tightening and broadening requirements for a license, plus requiring a $2,500 bond, by Del. Ours, R-Grant.

— Repeal state law prohibiting hunting on Sunday, by Del. Amick, D-Kanawha.

— Prevent the employment of "professional strikebreakers" by business involved in labor disputes with employees, by Dels. Zabeau, D-Harrison, and D'Aurora, D-Brooke.

Service researchers report that "a majority of those who descend on Washington for appointments are those who have failed in competitive employment."

David R. Locke, whose writings once attracted a national audience, said that a patriot, asked to declare in writing his qualifications for a job, did so as follows: "1st—I want an office. 2nd—I need an office. 3rd—I would suit me. 4th—Therefore, I should like to have an office."

THE PARTING SHOT—An outgoing Eisenhower official took a parting shot at certain critics of the "Eisenhower economy"—and it was a blockbuster. The debate about the U. S. economy had raged right up to the change of administrations. Eisenhower's final report declared: "Economic activity continues high." Mr. Kennedy's top advisers answered: "The nation's economy is now in a recession." Mr. Eisenhower told the nation to look forward to "a period of sound economic growth from a firm foundation."

Professor Paul Samuelson, of Kennedy's specially appointed "task force," reported that the economy "has been sluggish and tired. Mr. Eisenhower's economic adviser, Raymond Saulnier, answered: "That's wrong—categorically wrong." And then the parting shot: Maurice H. Stans, the outgoing Budget Director, advised Mr. Kennedy: "A few statements of confidence on the part of the next Administration would do more for the economy than a few billion dollars of defense spending."

"RECESSION" MINKS — The boys who planned the inaugural celebration sort of crossed up the weeping eggheds. Many a person in Washington or watching TV, noting that inaugural ball admission tickets sold at $50 per couple and a pair of seats at $80, that admission to the "Gala" cost $100, with boxes at $1500, and noting that none of these extravagant items went begging, that everything was sold out, even when the number of inaugural balls was increased to five, and noting further the mink stoles, mink capes, 500-dollar and 1,000-dollar dresses, and aware that at least one representative of a mining state was handing out silver dollars as souvenirs, remarked that "the United States was in a trough of recession it wasn't particularly, evident."

Combs have been found among the remains of ancient peoples, particularly among those of the Swiss Lake Dwellers.

Drop In Voting Rolls Continues

Registration in the City of Cumberland dropped 14 to the 364 mark during January.

Only one voter was placed on the books during the month and the names of 15 deceased voters were stricken off.

Registered voters on February 1 included 4,921 white males, 4,292 white females, 86 colored males and 65 colored females, according to a report by Mrs. Ruth Mangus, registration clerk.

Planners Urge Enabling Bill For Schools

Group Opposes Mandatory Action

Enabling legislation rather than a mandatory measure for the proposed $5 million Allegany County school construction program drew the endorsement last night of the County Planning and Zoning Commission meeting at the Court House.

The commission's action was in the form of a recommendation to the Board of County Commissioners. The commission recommended enabling legislation which would not specify exact school construction projects. The commission wants the opportunity for further study of population trends before making any more specific legislation.

In another recommendation to the county commissioners, the Planning and Zoning Commission endorsed recommended changes to strengthen the county's junkyard ordinance which was created by a 1957 act of the General Assembly in Annapolis.

Junkyard Restriction
Principal change endorsed by the planning group is a further restriction of junkyard developments within 500 feet of residential subdivisions as well as within 500 feet of existing houses.

Three members of the County Planning and Zoning Commission attended last night's meeting. They included Richard Winer, chairman; James A. Perrin and County Commissioner John T. Mason. Ralph M. Race was absent because he is recuperating from an operation. Alvin H. Tennent, the fifth member, also was absent.

John J. Rowan, president of the Board of County Commissioners, who also attended last night's session, indicated near the end of the meeting that Carl O. Belt of Park Heights, secretary of the John I. Vandegrift Company, will be appointed as a new member in place of Mr. Tennent, Lonaconing, whose one-year term is coming to an end.

Estimates Offered
Julian Tarrant of Richmond, Va., a representative of Ladislav Segoe and Associates of Cincinnati, Ohio, the county's planning engineers, submitted the recommended changes in the county's junkyard ordinance. He also offered some tentative estimates on school population trends but acknowledged that he had not yet been able to get the specific breakdown on Allegany County's 1960 population by ages.

When Mr. Mason asked if Mr. Tarrant might have some recommendations on financing school construction at the commission's February 23 meeting, the planning engineer expressed grave doubts.

Leslie J. Clark, attorney to the county commissioners, also participated in last night's meeting.

Livestock And Dairy Men To Meet Here

The annual meeting of livestock growers and dairy producers is planned for next Thursday, at LaVale Fire Hall. To date about 20 reservations have been made for the all-day meeting, according to Joseph M. Steger, county agent.

The meeting will open at 9:30 a.m. with a film, shown by Charles Leese of the Atlantic Dairy Association. Speakers for the morning session are Charles P. Ellington, extension agronomist from the University of Maryland, on "Pasture Management Including the Possibilities of Birdfoot Trefoil;" Dr. G. W. Green Jr. of the Maryland Livestock Sanitation Service, who will discuss health and sanitation regulations regarding sales in auction markets; and Mr. Ellington, "Making of Quality Hay."

Following lunch served through the courtesy of the Cumberland Fair Association, Lester Ray, manager of Rolling Rock Farm, Ligonier, Pa., will speak on "Hay Management." After this talk the meeting will split into two groups for the balance of the program.

The dairy group will hear talks by Dr. Robert Schabinger, dairy specialist, University of Maryland, on "Feeding of Economical Dairy Rations by Utilizing Home-grown Feeds," and "Raising Tomorrow's Dairy Cows."

Dr. James R. Ferguson, extension specialist in animal husbandry, University of Maryland, will address the livestock group. His subjects are "Looking Ahead with Livestock," and "Economical Feeding of Livestock."

There will be time for questions after each talk.

This will be the second of four winter meetings being held for Allegany County farmers.

Local Escapee Serving Time In Arlington

Maryland State Police have caught up with a 26-year-old Mt. Savage man who strolled away from Trial Magistrate's Court here last May 2 after he had been sentenced on a motor vehicle charge.

Howard Frederick Witt, police said, is now serving six months in Arlington, Va. for contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

The State Police at LaVale learned of Witt's whereabouts when they received a routine teletype this week from the police department of Arlington who sought information as to whether the prisoner was wanted elsewhere.

Police said the man probably will be brought back to Allegany County after he serves the time in Arlington.

Last May, Witt had been ordered committed to the county jail here for six months by Trial Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt, but he walked away from the Union Street county building.

Witt had been found guilty of operating a motor vehicle on a revoked license and ordered jailed in default of a $250 fine.

The man was taken outside the magistrate's office to wait to be taken to jail by Trooper Charles Snow of the State Police.

While Trooper Snow was testifying in another court case, Witt asked Howard P. Loughrey, court bailiff, for the key to a rest room. Witt took the key and disappeared from the premises.

Tfc. T. E. Ruppert of the State Police arrested Witt April 30 on U.S. Route 40 in LaVale.

Postmaster Appointed At Nikep

George J. Budries, a World War II veteran, son of Mrs. Frances Budries and the late Julius Budries, has assumed his duties as acting postmaster at Nikep, succeeding Mrs. Genevieve K. Meese, who retired January 31.

Mr. Budries took his oath of office Wednesday, and was installed in his new job by Richard M. Johnson, district postal inspector, who supervised the transfer of the office and the records.

Mr. Budries is a graduate of Barton High School, class of 1934. He entered the armed forces in November 1942 and was discharged January 31, 1946. He is a member of St. Gabriel's Church at Barton and a lifelong Democrat. He worked for a number of years at the Celanese plant.

Yesterday, many residents stopped to congratulate Mr. Budries on his appointment, and Mrs. Meese assisted him in becoming acquainted with his new duties.

Slot Machine Hearing Today

Three trustees of the Young Men's Republican Club of Frostburg will be tried this morning in Allegany County Circuit Court on charges of maintaining three slot machines at the organization's clubrooms.

The hearing will begin at 9:30 a.m. and will be conducted by Judge Neil C. Fraley.

The three trustees are Joseph Scott, Gilbert Rase and Charles Broadwater. They have been specifically charged with "unlawful keeping a gaming table."

The raid on the GOP Club was made in October by members of the Frostburg Police Department.

The three trustees were given a preliminary hearing October 25 in Frostburg before Magistrate Frank P. Kelley and were released on $500 bond to await trial.

Skating Proves Popular Sport

Ice skating has proved a popular winter sport here, the City Recreation Department reported yesterday.

There have been seven days of ice skating so far and attendance has totaled 1,550 persons.

Mrs. Eva Hogan, assistant recreation director, said it has truly been a family activity and that participants have ranged in age from 15 to 60.

The ice was in excellent condition last night and ice skating is planned today from 7-10 p.m. if the cold weather holds on and snow holds off.

Gate House Repairs Will Be Discussed

Program Estimated To Cost $80,000

Plans for the rehabilitation of the gate house at Lake Gordon will be presented to the Mayor and Council next week by Water Commissioner G. Ray Light.

He said he will present for their consideration plans and estimates of costs prepared by Robert T. Register, Inc., for the work.

The Baltimore engineering firm which has planned and supervised the post-war rehabilitation of water facilities at Lake Gordon yesterday submitted estimated costs for the projects.

Mr. Light said the current estimate for the rehabilitation of the gate chamber at Lake Gordon is $35,000, while the addition of low-lift standby pumping equipment and piping would cost about $45,000.

He said preliminary estimates called for the gate chamber to be rehabilitated for about $10,000.

This figure, he added, was for repairs, but after an inspection by a diver last fall, it was found that all five sluice gates installed in 1911 must be replaced.

He said the Register firm recommended that the city proceed with the installation of the pump and piping in order to provide for an alternate route for the intake of water while the gate house is being repaired.

The pumping unit has been recommended for years as it would allow the city to use, during extended droughts, a 50-day supply of water which will not flow into the filter plant by gravity.

Forecaster Tries Again: Snow Today

Although the weatherman's promise of snow yesterday was broken, he predicts it again today.

Snow probably accumulating several inches, and continued cold with a high in the 14-20 degree bracket is forecast for today.

You can rest assured the groundhog got a good glimpse of his shadow yesterday, since the sun was shining brightly and the air was crisp. So it appears six more weeks of winter are in the offing.

Yesterday the mercury dropped to the lowest levels in the state this year.

Town Hill reported a low reading of 15 degrees below; Frostburg 14 degrees below; Big Savage Mountain and Deal, Pa., 10 below zero; LaVale barracks, eight below; Savage River Dam, six below and Cumberland, four below.

Up in Garrett County the temperature was three below. The icy weather, is expected to continue in Maryland and nearby states.

Snow is expected to spread eastward today across the state.

MRS. GERALDINE CONWAY

Evangelist To Speak In Washington

Invited To Attend President's Event

Mrs. Geraldine Conway, who is conducting an evangelistic crusade at Cresaptown Methodist Church, has been invited to speak next Thursday at the President and First Lady's Breakfasts in Washington.

Both the President's Breakfast and the First Lady's Breakfast are a part of the International Christian Leadership Conference which is being held in Washington next week.

Evangelist Billy Graham also will attend the breakfast and speak to the President, Vice President, Cabinet, Congress and foreign diplomats who have accepted invitations.

Mrs. Conway, a lay preacher licensed by the Methodist Church, will address the wives of the persons attending the President's Breakfast.

Mrs. Conway also will be one of the hostesses to the Indian Diplomatic Delegation at the International Luncheon.

She is currently speaking each evening at the Cresaptown church and has planned three special services for the remainder of the crusade.

Rev. Robert E. Bavender, pastor, said Mrs. Conway will lead a prayer retreat tomorrow at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. Saturday night she will speak on "The Great Commission and Our World Today." Sunday evening Mrs. Conway will tell her life story entitled "An Ambassador for Christ to the Ends of the Earth."

Rev. Mr. Bavender said the public is invited to attend any of the services and hear Mrs. Conway.

Man Is Nabbed In Connection With Gas Theft

A South Cumberland man was arrested yesterday morning in connection with the theft of gasoline from The Cumberland Box Company and the Buchanan Lumber Company.

James W. Connors of 18 Laing Avenue, according to City Police Detective Captain James E. Van, admitted in a statement that he took part in siphoning the fuel from the vehicles of the firms. Another suspect was being sought by Captain Van yesterday afternoon.

He said a number of complaints had been received that the gasoline was being stolen.

F. Perry Smith Jr., owner of the box factory, told police he was concerned with the possibility of a fire being started in the vicinity of the plant.

The gasoline was siphoned from a lumber hoist of the box factory and trucks of the lumber firm. Connors admitted that the gas had been taken from the box firm since Thanksgiving last year and periodically from the lumber firm trucks.

A Statement Of Policy

The Cumberland News has announced its emphatic endorsement of the proposal to unify the educational facilities of Frostburg State Teachers College with those of the University of Maryland. Now a committee representative of the citizens of Western Maryland has organized to further this effort, and to seek the help of all who agree that this is the best means of broadening the opportunities for higher education in this area.

It would be as inaccurate as it would be unfair to imply that sentiment in favor of joining State Teachers College with the university is unanimous. Obviously, many who are sincerely interested in the educational future of Western Maryland have honest reservations about making any changes in the present system. Many persons simply have not yet decided whether they favor the Warfield plan, which recommended a year ago that the Frostburg, Towson and Salisbury teachers colleges be converted to university branches with continued teacher training plus full arts and sciences programs, or whether they would prefer the State Board of Education's program for continued operation of the state teachers colleges by that department, with the addition of liberal arts courses leading to a degree.

Basically, then, the proponents of the separate plans agree that educational opportunities should be broadened. The question to be resolved is which plan will accomplish the desired result, and which institution should administer and direct an expanded college at Frostburg. The News has been assured that should the proposal we have advocated be adopted, the present faculty and administrators at Frostburg State Teachers College would be retained at no reduction in salaries.

The News already has begun a series of factual articles in an effort to provide as much information as possible about costs, educational comparisons, and other aspects of the program we have advocated. The News also will attempt to answer any written questions from readers. If the answers cannot be found in the reports of the various commissions which have studied the subject, then we will obtain the answers either from Frostburg State Teachers College or from the University of Maryland.

In addition, The News has published statements of spokesmen for industry, labor and other interested groups speaking in behalf of unification with the university, and will do the same for groups opposing it. Because of space limitations, however, we ask that any such statements be as concise as possible.

This is being done in the hope that decisions affecting our young people's education and the future of Western Maryland will be arrived at through reasonable judgments based on a complete understanding of the facts. We hope and believe as always that the people, if fully informed, will make the right decision.

Scout Exposition Opens Tonight At State Armory

The third annual Scout Exposition sponsored by Nemaconin Trail District will open tonight at 7 o'clock at the new National Guard Armory on Brown Avenue.

The exposition will be open this evening from 7 to 9 p.m. and tomorrow from 1 p.m. to 9 p.m. It will feature displays and exhibits on cubbing, scouting and exploring.

J. Paul Fisher, district chairman, said some 31 units will take part in the event all participating units will receive an award. Awards also will be presented to the outstanding unit in each phase of scouting.

The following units will take part in the show: Troop 1, St. Luke's Lutheran Church; Troop 2, B.O. The new law calls for permanent renewal of all licenses every two years.

John R. Jewell, commissioner of Motor Vehicles, said over 4,000 operators scheduled for renewal in January failed to return their applications and are now holding expired licenses. Under the law, the licenses of those eligible for renewal in a given month expire at the end of that month. He also noted that all enforcement agencies have been instructed to be on the alert for drivers using outdated permits.

The new law calls for permanent renewal of all licenses every two years.

Nixon Writes Local Resident

W. A. Strother, 809 Trost Avenue, former tax collector at the Court House and long an active Republican here, disclosed yesterday that he received a letter from former Vice President Richard M. Nixon in response to a letter Mr. Strother had written the defeated GOP candidate November 25.

During the 1952 campaign when Mr. Nixon first was elected Vice President, Mr. Strother arranged a chartered bus trip from Cumberland to Pittsburgh to hear the Vice Presidential nominee. Mr. Strother also arranged a special train to Washington from here on January 20, 1953, for the first inauguration of President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Mr. Nixon.

The Vice President's letter, written the day before his term ended, read as follows: "Before my term of office comes to a close on January 20, I want to take this opportunity to tell you how much I appreciated the letter you wrote after the election."

"A message of congratulations after winning an election is of course always appreciated although not unexpected. But nothing could have meant more to us than to receive such a warm and thoughtful message after losing."

"In the years ahead as we look back to 1960, the disappointment of losing the closest election in history will fade into the background. But your act of thoughtfulness will always remain close to our hearts."

City firemen yesterday morning had two calls including a fire fire on West Side and a smoke scare in South End.

At 11:04 a.m. firemen went to the Virginia Avenue School after they received a telephone call from a woman who said there was smoke in the vicinity of the building. However firemen could not locate any fire.

West Side firemen were called to 61 Greene Street at 9:04 a.m. and checked a fire fire at that address.

There will be no admission charge for any of the concerts.

Bill To Create Fire Deputies Is Introduced

Would Be Members Of Volunteer Units

The Allegany County Delegation to the General Assembly this week introduced House Bill 197, which will allow members of volunteer fire companies to be appointed deputy sheriffs.

State Senator Charles M. See said he will support the bill in the Senate.

The bill, he said, would include Allegany County in legislation which allows the sheriffs in Baltimore, Cecil and Washington counties to make deputies of three members of each volunteer fire company.

The special deputies are to be appointed on recommendation of the commanding officer of the fire company. They are to have the power of deputy sheriffs while going to, at and from a fire.

Senator See said the positions will be unpaid and that the authority can be revoked by the unit's commander and is, of course, lost if the deputy leaves the fire company.

He said the authority can be exercised only in unincorporated communities which have no organized or regular police force.

Under the bill, the deputies would, for example, have the power to keep crowds at a safe distance from a fire, keep vehicles from running over fire hoses and similar acts which might hinder them in the course of extinguishing a fire.

He said the legislation was recommended by Sheriff Paul C. Haberlein.

Senator See said all Allegany County legislators agreed the proposal is a good one.

He said his bill to give the Allegany County Commissioners to appropriate $10,000 a year to Miners Hospital passed the Senate yesterday and has been sent to the House.

Butler Speaks To Delegates On Civil Rights

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Emotion-charged arguments echoed through the Maryland House of Delegates chamber, Thursday on civil rights legislation pending before the General Assembly.

Paul M. Butler, former Democratic national committeeman, was the star speaker for the proponents of such legislation. Butler, appearing as a "private citizen," said discrimination was "undemocratic, unAmerican and unchristian."

"It is time for all Americans to stand up in the struggle for full enjoyment of all human rights for all American citizens so others won't have to sit or kneel down against discrimination," Butler said.

Edgar C. Partlow of Hyattsville, one of the opponents, said the bill "would cost Maryland millions of dollars."

"People will go right through Baltimore in 40 minutes . . . and stop in Virginia," Partlow said. "Virginia will get all those nice, green American dollars."

Butler and Partlow were among 26 witnesses who took the rostrum.

The Legislature is currently considering bills which would outlaw racial discrimination in restaurants, hotels and other places of public accommodations. The measures would also remove references to color from the laws on public schools, teachers colleges and their faculties.

The House, meanwhile, passed 81-11 this afternoon a bill requiring a clause against discrimination in hiring in all State work contracts.

A companion bill to prohibit discrimination by state agencies in hiring employees was sent back to committee for an amendment. The vote to make a relatively minor amendment was 52-49.

Furman L. Templeton, president of the Baltimore Urban League, hailed the proposed legislation as an opportunity for Maryland "to eliminate one of its last taints on its boast of being a 'free state'."

Members of the clergy, representatives of women's clubs, a restaurant owner and others also went on record as favoring the proposals.

W. F. Strong, president of the Maryland - District of Columbia AFL-CIO, said "discrimination is abhorred by the trade union movement."

Bennett Crain Jr., Annapolis attorney representing the Maryland Hotel Association and leading off for the opposition, said it "feels this legislation is unworkable in the hotel industry."

C. Maurice Weidemeyer, counsel for the Maryland Petroleum Committee, said "my colored and white clients do not want legislation such as this."

"You jam this thing through and you'll find racial tensions mounting," Weidemeyer said. "The bills being proposed, in my opinion, will destroy that great intellectual and moral fiber of the United States."

The forum on civil rights was one of four held on major proposals before the legislature.
